CRY FOR BEER RENEWED AS REPEAL WINS

HOUSE'S DRY VOTE IS 289-121

Several States Have Already Started to Map Plans.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

Congress submitted to the country yesterday a proposal to wipe prohibition out of the Constitution, and the shouts of jubilant antiprohibitionists had hardly died down in the excited House of Representatives before they were echoed by renewed demands for immediate legalization of beer.

The House adopted the prohibition repeal resolution after 40 minutes of debate by a vote of 289 to 121, which was 15 more votes than the required two-thirds.

The repeal resolution was the same as that adopted by the Senate last week, and was quickly signed by Speaker John N. Garner and Vice President Charles Curtis and delivered to Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, who has promised to send formal notification to each of the 48 States by air mail so that it may be acted on by those State Legislatures which are now in session.

Action in Several Already.

Several States already have started in motion the legislative machinery to provide for consideration of the repeal proposal without waiting formal notification that Congress has done something the whole country knows it has done.

The repeal resolution provides that the question shall be passed on by special conventions called in each State for the specific purpose. This will mark the first time that recourse has been had to the State convention alternative provided in the Constitution for passing on constitutional amendments.

The resolution says that the prohibition amendment "is hereby repealed," contains a paragraph, designed to protect dry States from liquor importations, and permits seven years for effective action by the States. The section protecting dry States declares that the shipment of liquors into States in violation of their laws is prohibited.

Speed Is Expected.

Analysis of the vote by which the resolution was adopted shows that there were 180 Democrats and 108 Republicans and one Farmer-Labor who voted for it, and there were 32 Democrats and 89 Republicans who voted against it.

Adoption of the resolution by this session of Congress generally is expected materially to speed the decision on the question. Although the resolution itself provided for a seven-year period within which States might act, it had been estimated that a sufficient number of States to decide its fate would have acted in four years if the repeal measure had been acted on early in the next Congress. Decision of the States now is expected in a shorter time.

To wipe the prohibition amendment out of the Constitution will require the votes of 36—three-fourths—of the 48 States. If thirteen or more States vote to keep the amendment in effect then it stays in the Constitutions despite the votes of the other 35 or less.

The House action was a sad blow to the prohibitionists, but they reiter-

Siegel Jailed

Fingerprints of Lawyer Are Taken by Man Who Told of Bribe Offer.

The strange quirks of circumstance played oddly about Abner Siegel, disbarred attorney, when he was committed to the District Jail yesterday preparatory to serving a term for attempting to bribe a guard at the jail.

The man who he was convicted of having attempted to bribe, Harry S. Deane, took Siegel's fingerprints when he was admitted to the jail after he was committed by Justice James M. Proctor in District Supreme Court.

Siegel has been at liberty on bond following his conviction, which carried with it an 18 months' prison sen-

DEMOCRATS TO PICK SPEAKER ON MARCH 2

Decision Made to Caucus Then to Assist Roosevelt in Congress Dealings.

(Associated Press.)

The Democratic membership of the next House will be called to meet March 2 in caucus to select a successor to Speaker John N. Garner.

Representative Arnold, of Illinois, chairman of the Democratic caucus, announced late last night that a decision to hold the caucus was reached after 25 members had presented a petition to him demanding that the organization meeting be held before President-elect Roosevelt takes office March 4. The call will go out today.

The Democrats have been engaged in an undercover controversy as to when to hold the organization meeting. Representative Rayburn (Democrat), Texas, who is closely allied with the Roosevelt forces, insisted that the organization meeting be held in order that the new Executive would know with whom to discuss legislative problems for the special session.

Representative Rankin, of Mississippi, a speakership candidate, has been circulating a petition to hold off the caucus until five days before the special session in April. Rayburn said this would be unfair to the new President.

Representative McDuffie, of Alabama, the Democratic whip, and a leading candidate to succeed Speaker Garner, said he concurred with the views of Rayburn. Representative Rainey, of Illinois, the Democratic leader, another candidate, said it did not matter to him whether the caucus was held on March 2, or in April.

Arnold conducted a poll of the membership of 313 Democrats elected to the new House, and all but about a dozen said they would be here

Burglar's Plunder $2,385 in Jewelry

Sixteenth Street Home of Mrs. Moriarty Robbed of Antique Pieces.

Rare antique jewelry valued at $2,385 was stolen from the home of Mrs. Lewis S. Moriarty, 4408 Sixteenth street northwest, Sunday night by a burglar who forced open a kitchen window and ransacked the second floor until he discovered the metal chest in which the jewels were kept. Mrs. Moriarty told police that the home was entered while she was visiting friends in Baltimore.

Among the jewels, which had been collected from various countries, were a sea pearl necklace, valued at $450; a jade necklace, $450; an agate and gold chain necklace, $250, and an Australian opal on a gold chain, $190.

It was explained that the values placed on the jewels were conservative, in some instances being below the cost and market values.

Catholics and Hitlerites In Clash; One Is Slain

Berlin, Feb. 20 (U.P.).—A fatal fight involving Catholics and followers of Chancellor Adolf Hitler occurred during a Catholic torchlight parade tonight at the town of Kaisers-Lautern, in the Palatinate, Bavaria. Casualties included one dead and three badly injured. Several were slightly injured, including several Fascists.

After hours of skirmishing the police restored order and escorted many home. A series of small disorders were reported in routine police reports, but no casualties were listed in the capital.

CONGRESS ROW OVER ECONOMY AT HEAD TODAY

ALL BUT ONE SENATE MEASURE UNDER FIRE

$19,000,000 for Air Mail Is Restored by Report; Byrns Fears Veto.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The House and Senate economy disagreement will come to a head today.

The House will be called on to vote for a substitute retrenchment program, eliminating all save one of the major Senate economy recommendations.

The substitute amendment, introduced yesterday by House Appropriations Chairman Joseph W. Byrns, throws out the 5 per cent departmental appropriations cut, but extends to the incoming President almost absolute powers of reorganization.

The whole matter will be disposed of this afternoon in three hours or less, Chairman Byrns said last night. Despite the House conference stand, he will yield to any member who wants to offer the departmental cut for a separate vote.

Garner's Dictatorial Proposal.

Leeway also will be allowed for the Garner proposal to give almost dictatorial fiscal powers to the President, although conferees will not recommend it. This plan would permit Mr. Roosevelt to invade the field of Federal and veterans' compensation.

Late yesterday it was still undetermined whether the Garner proposal will be offered from the floor, according to Representative James P. Buchanan (Democrat), Texas, who assisted the Speaker in preparation of the original plan.

The Treasury-Postoffice conference report filed yesterday in the House shows nine individual provisions in disagreement, including the Senate economy amendment and the 5 per cent cut and tax refund review proposals embodied in it.

Possibilities of a Veto.

"We were exceedingly anxious to report a bill which would not provoke a discussion at the other end of the Capitol and probably jeopardize the passage of the bill between now and March 4, or to put into it any amendment which might possibly provoke a veto," Representative Byrns told the House.

"For this reason, members of the conference committee probably did not insist upon some things that they would have insisted upon had it not been for this fact."

If it is desired to amend the measure, he said there should be no trouble in getting attention next session.

Night Pay Differential.

He said it would not surprise him if the Bratton 5 per cent cut, or the Garner plan, not included in the committee's substitute, were offered independently from the floor.

The report filed yesterday not only discards the departmental slash and the McKellar provision for tax refund

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Resumption of war debts discussions today by President-elect Roosevelt and Ambassador Lindsay, of Great Britain, led to two statesmen into the broad field of world economics.

A carefully worded statement given out by Mr. Roosevelt after the two-hour conference in the closely guarded Roosevelt home on East Sixty-fifth street disclosed only that much, but it was believed to point to an early world economic conference for all nations.

The President-elect arranged for another early meeting with Sir Ronald Lindsay, who returned here today with the latest views of his government.

WAGNER'S AID BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Glass Warns Measure Will Imperil U. S. Credit; Denounces R. F. C.

(Associated Press.)

Despite a blunt warning from Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, that Federal credit was endangered, the Senate passed the Wagner bill providing a vast expansion of the Government's unemployment relief program.

Carrying an additional $300,000,000 for relief loans to States and more liberal terms for construction loans, the bill was approved 54 to 16 and sent to the House, where it was expected to receive early consideration.

Just before the final vote, the Senate agreed, 44 to 28, to substitute the Wagner program for the La Follette-Costigan bill which proposed to give outright $500,000,000 to the States for relief of destitution.

All the conflicting views of the Senate were outlined sharply in the closing debate which attracted crowds to the galleries, including Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, wif. of the Secretary of War.

Glass arose, in the midst of a warm debate over the methods of distributing the relief funds, to denounce both bills and propose abolition of the Reconstruction Corporation.

Asserting that the Nation "would have been on the road to recovery if we never had erected the R. F. C.," the Virginia Democrat said he was ready to vote at once to abolish it. Almost coincidently with his speech it became known at the Capitol that Glass had declined an offer to sit in the next Cabinet.

"I have cast my last vote for these temporary expedients for so-called relief," Glass said. "The R. F. C. has not been a reconstruction corporation, it has been a destruction corporation."

Then turning to the sponsors of

HOOVER'S MESSAGE BACKS 8 MEASURES

Says Nation Suffers Heavily From Lack of Definite Legislation.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Again warning that American business is suffering heavily for want of definite legislation on Capitol Hill, President Hoover sent an unexpected special message to Congress yesterday vigorously urging conclusive action on eight major measures bearing directly upon economic recovery. He hinted that because of prolonged uncertainty concerning the vital legislative program the national economic life has been drifting steadily in recent weeks in the direction of a complete paralysis of confidence and credit.

The message warned of "new elements of grave danger" in the credit situation arising directly from the general publicity demanded by Speaker John N. Garner for Reconstruction Finance loans, and again urged Congress to modify its policy so as to protect local communities from undue alarms and grossly exaggerated fears.

The present arrangement, the President added, "is destroying the usefulness of the Reconstruction Corporation," and "drying up the very sources of credit. The effect of such publication is forcing payment of distressed debtors to replenish bank funds. It is causing the hoarding of currency."

Immediate enactment of the emergency bankruptcy reform bill was urged as the most pressing need of the present situation.

"This legislation is of the most critical importance in this period of readjustment," Mr. Hoover said. The Senate late yesterday, on motion of Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, made this measure the unfinished business.

$315,000,000 Voted by Unit In House for Navy Budget

Vinson Plans to Press for Treaty Strength at Next Session.

Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Naval Affairs Committee today will tell the House he intends to press for early action next session on his program to build the American Navy up to treaty strength.

The Vinson naval construction program, brought out shortly after convening of the Seventy-second Congress, has been kept in committee, largely because of economy considerations and the insistence of Democratic leaders.

Representative Vinson said last night he has no intention of asking action in the few remaining days of this session, but will call it up early next session.

He asked Representative W. A. Ayres (Democrat), Kansas, chairman of the House Naval Affairs Appropriations subcommittee, to yield the floor for half an hour when the Navy supply bill comes up this afternoon, so he can outline his proposal.

The bill introduced January a year ago by the Naval Affairs chairman

Marine Corps Slashes as Favored by Hoover Are Opposed.

(Associated Press.)

So the Navy next year can do some work on every vessel it has authority to build, except two, the Appropriations Committee recommended to the House yesterday that it approve the allocation of $315,000,000 to that branch of the Nation's defenses.

The $315,000,000 total, however, would include only $308,669,000 in direct appropriations, the remainder being expenditures allowed from funds the Navy already has. And the $308,669,000 is exactly the amount President Hoover's budget requested.

The budget recommendations were not approved throughout, however. In one instance, the committee added $9,510,000 to the total so navy yard workers would not have to take a 30 per cent wage cut in addition to the present 8 1-3 per cent. President Hoover had proposed such a change.

The second major instance was the committee's decision that the famed

3 QUIT MEETING OF FEDERATIONS IN TAXI DISPUTE

Sullivan, of D. C. Group, Leads Walkout in Open Break.

DEBATING CONTINUES WELL PAST MIDNIGHT

Controversy Develops After Col. Barber Attacks Zone System.

An open break in the Inter-federation Conference that led three delegates from the Federation of Citizens Association to leave the meeting in a huff resulted from a heated debate over the local taxicab issue that continued well after last midnight in a conference room at the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The controversy was marked by frequent resorts to acrimony between Col. A. B. Barber, of the Montgomery County federation, and George E. Sullivan, a leader in the District federation. It was Mr. Sullivan who led the walkout a few minutes before midnight, and he was followed immediately by Harry N. Stull and Miss Elaine Eppley, also delegates of the District body.

The cleavage was shown to be more between the Washington trade bodies and the District citizens' organization as the controversy gained headway, as Col. Barber was the principal object of the District delegates' indignation.

To Submit Question.

Just before 1 a. m., and after numerous parliamentary tangles, the conference decided to submit the whole question of whether Washington cabs should be equipped with meters to the Arlington and Montgomery County federations. This, in effect, was what the District federation had sought to do earlier in the meeting as it will prevent the conference from taking a stand before the Senate acts on the House rider to the District appropriations bill preventing the Public Utilities Commission from enforcing the taxicab order as to meters.

James E. Yaden, president of the District body, brought this out when he explained to the Arlington and Montgomery County delegates the reasons why his organization had steadfastly opposed the meter provision of the Public Utilities Commission's taxicab order.

"I want to point out right here the difference between the trade bodies of Washington and the Federation of Citizens Associations," he said. "We represent the mass of the people, while they represent the business men."

Attacks Zone System.

The fight started after the conference had amicably agreed to urge Congress to adopt a pending bill providing for compulsory financial responsibility for taxicab operators with a reservation that proper legal safeguards against exorbitant insurance rates should be provided.

Col. Barber, who is the Inter-Federation Conference representative on the citizens' joint transportation committee, then launched gradually into an attack on the zone system of taxicab operation, which he termed "disgraceful." It was when he took several thrusts at the District federation for its adamant stand against a

District Kidnaping Bill Is Signed by President

The Thatcher kidnaping bill, tightening up local abduction laws, and providing life imprisonment as the maximum sentence for kidnaping, became law yesterday, when it was signed by the President.

Hitherto there has been no District law against the kidnaping of adults, the existing statutes providing penalties only for the abduction of children. Before passage of the bill kidnaping of members of Congress, or even the President, was classed as a minor offense, carrying a maximum sentence of only seven years.

ZANGARA SCORNFUL AS HE GETS 80 YEARS

"Don't Be Stingy!" He Shouts to Judge Sentencing Him on Four Charges.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—As scornful of the law as when he tried to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt last Wednesday night, Giuseppe Zangara pleaded guilty today to four counts of attempt to murder, and was sentenced to 80 years imprisonment.

"Oh, judge, don't be stingy. Give me 100 years!" the 33-year-old prisoner shouted as he was led from the courtroom. Then, laughing in evident amusement, he fell in step with his guards and was led back to his prison cell.

Zangara's sentences of 20 years on each count, running consecutively, constitute life imprisonment at Raiford State Prison or hard labor in the Florida road camps.

However, should Mayor Anton Cermak, of Chicago, or Mrs. Joe H. Gill, prominent society woman, die of wounds they received from bullets fired by the assassin at the President-elect, the State will seek a first degree murder indictment and the death penalty. Cermak and Mrs. Gill were reported as continuing to show improvement at the hospital here.

Today's sentences were for trying to kill the President-elect, Russell Caldwell, Coconut Grove, Fla., Miss Margaret Kruis, Newark N. J., and W. J. Sinnott, New York policeman and bodyguard to Mr. Roosevelt. The latter three were slightly wounded by the bullets Zangara's pistol sprayed into the crowd which surrounded the car occupied by the President-elect in Bay Front Park.

Louis Twyman, defense counsel, who entered Zangara's guilty pleas, said the Italian had insisted he was guilty. "He says 'no, no, I not crazy' when we ask him if he thinks

Youngquist Quits As Aid to Mitchell

Assistant Attorney General Has Had Charge of Tax and Dry Cases.

(Associated Press.)

G. Aaron Youngquist, of Minneapolis, yesterday presented to President Hoover his resignation as Assistant Attorney General. Since November, 1929, he has been in charge of litigation relating to prohibition and the Federal tax laws. He will reenter the private practice of law at his home in Minneapolis.

Youngquist is the fourth Assistant Attorney General to resign lately, the others being John Lord O'Brien, Nugent Dodds and Charles P. Sisson.

Among the cases of which Youngquist had charge was the income tax fraud cases against Al Capone. He succeeded Mabel Walker Willebrandt when she resigned as an Assistant Attorney General.

Comstock and Bankers In All-Night Meeting

Detroit, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Gov. William A. Regardless of the outcome of the conference, the governor intimated late today he would issue another proclamation bearing upon the banking situation before tomorrow morning.

30,000 Men Sent Against Force Of Chinese.

'POLICE WORK,' GENEVA HEARS

Peiping Told Guerrillas Have Captured Chinchow.

Geneva (Tuesday), Feb. 21 (U.P.).—A large-scale Japanese military operation against Chinese in the Province of Jehol began at daybreak today, the United Press was informed in an authoritative source.

Advices received here said that 30,000 Japanese and Manchukuo troops have started a major offensive around Kailu, aimed at driving 150,000 Chinese soldiers from the province.

Meanwhile, the Japanese delegation to the League of Nations prepared to issue a press communique explaining that the offensive is merely "police operations," since Jehol is claimed as an integral part of Manchukuo. The Japanese will furthermore charge the Chinese with responsibility for the operations, since they have been concentrating troops in Jehol while conciliation efforts have been proceeding in Geneva.

Chinchow Fall Reported.

Peiping (Tuesday), Feb. 21 (U.P.). Secret reports to the Chinese military headquarters here early today, allegedly emanating from mutinous Manchoukuo military police sources, said that Chinese guerilla forces had attacked and occupied Chinchow, a major Japanese military concentration point between Shanghaikwan and Mukden, in Manchuria. The dispatches were not confirmed.

First reports of the purported capture of Chinchow failed to say whether the Chinese guerillas were still holding the town or whether they merely conducted one of their characteristic swift raids, and then disappeared into the hinterland.

A communique issued here claiming the capture of Chinchow asserted Chinese volunteers and irregulars pursued the fleeing Japanese and surrounded them at their garrison in the town of Chinhsi, in a "pocket" of the Hung-Lu Mountains.

Called Opening Battle.

Chinese authorities explained that Chinchow could have been occupied by guerilla forces because, it was asserted, the Japanese recently have concentrated the majority of their forces at Kailu, in northeastern Jehol Province, weakening their garrisons at Chinchow and Chinhsi.

The reported clash was regarded as the initial skirmish in the Japanese-Chinese war over Jehol Province, expected to break out again soon after weeks of comparative calm.

Acting Premier T. V. Soong described northern China as a "powder magazine" which, he asserted, only awaited the Japanese invasion of Jehol "to set it aflame."

"The suffering in north China and of our armies in the war zone at the hands of the Japanese already is beyond endurance," the acting premier declared. "All north China now simply is a powder magazine awaiting to be set aflame—and the Japanese invasion of Jehol Province will furnish the necessary spark."

Ready for Death Struggle.

Soong's statement was made in comment upon Japan's decision to quit the League of Nations on account of the league's decision blam-

PRESIDENT PLACES ARCHIVES MARKER

Praises New U.S. Repository as "Temple of History" at Ceremonies.

President Hoover laid the corner stone of the National Archives Building yesterday afternoon. Standing on an improvised platform beside the yawning pit where the structure will rise, he spread a trowel of mortar after briefly praising the building as a "temple of history."

In the Archives Building, which occupies a historical spot, the site of the old Center Market, will be stored all of the documents and treaties which form a record of the Nation's history. There will be guarded the originals of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. The President said:

"There is an especial significance in this ceremony, coming within two days of the celebration of George Washington's birthday. The soil on which we are s' ding is part of the original tract acquired by President Washington for the Nation's Capital.

Sacred Documents Here.

"The building which is rising here will house the name and record of every patriot who bore arms for our country in the Revolutionary War, as well as those of all later wars. Further, there will be aggregated here the most sacred documents of our history, the originals of the Declaration of Independence and of the Constitution of the United States.

"Here will be preserved all the other records that bind State to State and the hearts of all our people in an indissoluble union. The romance of our history will have living habitation here in the writings of statesmen, soldiers and all the others, both men and women, who have builded the great structure of our national life.

"This temple of our history will appropriately be one of the most beautiful buildings in America, an expression of the American soul. It will be one of the most durable, an expression of the American character.

"Devoutly the Nation will pray that it may endure forever, the repository of records of yet more glorious progress in the life of our beloved country. I now lay the corner stone of the Archives Building and dedicate it in the name of the people of the United States."

Address by Secretary Mills.

Before the President's address, Ogden L. Mills, Secertary of the Treasury, had said that the building was unmistakable evidence of the youth of the country and that it would symbolize this generation's faith in the Nation's destiny.

As the President and Mrs. Hoover walked from their automobile to the platform they passed through an aisle of uniformed Coast Guardsmen. Secret Service men, police detectives and uniformed patrolmen were much in evidence at the ceremony.

When the President had smoothed his trowel of mortar, he handed it to Mr. Mills, who did likewise. The President again took up the trowel and smiled when he was requested to pose by news cameramen.

The invocation at the ceremony was by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington. Benediction was pronounced by the Most Rev. John M. McNamara, Auxiliary Bishop of Baltimore. The Marine Band played.

WAGNER RELIEF BILL IS PASSED IN SENATE

the legislation, the diminutive but outspoken Virginian asked:

"Where do you senators expect this money to come from? Is it to be picked out of the air?"

Glass denounced the "rich States" of New York and Pennsylvania for borrowing from the R. F. C. and said he was "ashamed" that Virginia also had asked for Federal aid.

"There isn't a respectable community in the United States," he said, "with any humanitarian spirit whatsoever that isn't able to take care of its own destitute."

Attacking the emergency measures adopted by Congress, Glass said "we permitted ourselves to be rushed off our feet to adopt all these psychological poultices."

He characterized the Home Loan Bank System as an "abominable" thing, and said the railroads should be allowed to go into receiverships.

See Bond Sales Menaced.

"A railroad doesn't disappear when it goes into receivership," he said. "The only difference is they don't have to pay $150,000 a year for a president. The only way to get reconstruction of the railroad financial set-up is to put some of them in the hands of receivers."

The former Treasury Secretary warned against inflationary measures, and said "if we undertake to devalue the gold dollar, I don't think we will be able to sell another Federal bond."

Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, one of the sponsors of the $500,000,000 bill, opened the debate with a speech asserting the Wagner substitute program would "continue the process of pauperization."

The fiery young Wisconsin senator said relief now was being administered on a "semistarvation basis" and would be continued that way if the Wagner bill were adopted.

Wagner Defends Bill.

"We can no longer shirk our responsibility by hiding behind theoretical divisions of Government responsibility which are no longer applicable," La Follette asserted.

Similar views were expressed by the other sponsor of the bill, Costigan (Democrat), Colorado, who said the Wagner principle of administering relief has not "saved us from poorly-administered, unstandardized and for the most part cruelly inadequate relief."

Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, sponsor of the bill which finally was approved, defended his measure and predicted it was the only form of relief that could be enacted in view of President Hoover's views.

"In view of the expressions of the President," he said, "we are simply inviting a veto by insisting upon grants instead of loans."

Playwright Files in Bankruptcy.

Chicago, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Fritz Blocki, playwright and critic, filed a petition in bankruptcy today, listing $21,412 liabilities and $555 assets. His mother and R. G. Text of Hoover's Message Urging Definite Legislation

Text of the President's special message sent to the Senate and House of Representatives yesterday:

There are certain measures looking to the promotion of economic recovery which have been under consideration by the Congress and are so advanced toward completion or understanding as to seem possible of enactment during the present session.

1. It is most necessary that the principles of the bankruptcy bill, which has already been acted upon by the House, should be passed by the Senate. The whole object of the bill is to secure orderly cooperation between creditors and debtors, whether farmers, individuals, general corporations or railroads, for mutual adjustment which will preserve the integrity and continuous operation of business, save the values of good will and the continuation of people in their occupations and thus avoid destruction of the interest of both parties. This legislation is of the most critical importance in this period of readjustment. Incidentally such a workable system is highly necessary in order to permit a certain minority of railroads to be so reorganized as to reduce fixed charges and thus relieve the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of drains in prevention of destructive receiverships.

St. Lawrence Canal Treaty.

2. The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway Treaty should be ratified. It not only will serve a great national purpose but is of importance now also to relieve unemployment by its construction.

3. The enactment by the House of the general principles embodied in the Glass banking bill, which has already passed the Senate, will greatly contribute to reestablish confidence. It is the first constructive step to remedy the prime weakness of our whole economic life—that is organization of our credit system.

4. Authority should be given to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to increase the amount of loans to States and municipalities for purposes of assistance to distress on the same terms as the present act. While the corporation has funds available which will last until July, it is desirable that they should be supplemented.

Domestic Allotment Plan.

5. It seems clear that the domestic allotment plan is wholly unworkable. It will do far greater harm than good to agriculture.

Pending the return of the great commercial countries to the gold standard and the consequent increase in world consumption and thus rise in world prices, it is essential temporarily to reduce farm production so as to remove the backbreaking surpluses of agricultural products and thus to raise agricultural income. The plan proposed by the Secretary of Agriculture some time since for temporary leasing of marginal lands is the least harmful and the most hopeful of all the plans which have been proposed. It has the merit of direct action in reducing supply to demand and thus unquestionably increasing prices; it would affect all farm products, give equal benefits to all farmers, is free of increased bureaucracy, very much less costly, and could be covered by a manufacturers' excise tax of probably 1 per cent to 2 per cent upon these commodities. It would also largely c' minate the tax and interest problems which the Congress is seeking to solve at much greater cost.

Scores R. F. C. Publicity.

6. I earnestly recommend repeal of the procedure of the House of Representatives in publishing loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. These transactions should be open to the fullest degree to the representatives of the Congress, but their publication in the last few months has led to widespread, mostly innocent misinterpretation, vicious in effect, by depositors and alarmists who do not recognize that such borrowings represent an endeavor of the institution to provide funds needed in service to their respective communities.

This publication is destroying the usefulness and effectiveness of the Reconstruction Corporation, is exaggerating fears and is introducing new elements of grave danger. It is drying up the very sources of credit. The effect of such publication is forcing payment by distressed debtors to replenish bank funds. It is causing the hoarding of currency.

Shipment of Arms.

7. While the Congress could not enact such a law during this session, I recommend that it should institute an inquiry with view to the early expansion of the Home Loan Discount Banks into a general mortgage discount system to be owned cooperatively by banks and mortgage companies (with adequate encouragement of the special activities of building and loan associations) and thus to parallel in the field of long-time credit the service of the Federal Reserve System for short-time credit. Such a system would relieve the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of many of its functions, would assist in the orderly readjustment of the present situation, and through private initiative would serve many purposes for which the Congress is striving through direct action by the Government.

8. Peace would be promoted and the killing of men checked in various parts of the world today, if the Executive had the authority to join with other nations in preventing the shipment of arms to such localities. I earnestly recommend that the legislation proposed for this purpose be enacted.

HERBERT HOOVER.

EARLY ACTION ON 8 MEASURES URGED BY PRESIDENT HOOVER

Urges Treaty Approval.

Secondly, the message suggested prompt ratification of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence treaty, which promised important relief to the prevailing distress of unemployment.

Next, the general principles of the Glass banking bill, now before the House Banking Committee, should be enacted, as a step to the reestablishment of national confidence.

"It is the first constructive step to remedy the prime weakness of our economic life; that is, organization of our credit system," the message said of the Glass bill.

As a fourth measure urgently required in the remaining ten legislative days of the short session, the President listed enlargement of the R. F. C. loans to States and municipalities "on the same terms as the present act."

Hits Allotment Plan.

The President began his discussion of farm relief with the blunt declaration that the domestic allotment plan, which has been under consideration since December, probably would do more harm than good.

"It seems clear that the domestic allotment plan is wholly unworkable," the message said. "It will do far greater harm than good to agriculture. Pending the return of the great commercial countries to the gold standard and the consequent increase in world consumption and thus a rise in world prices, it is essential temporarily to reduce farm production so as to remove the backbreaking surpluses of agricultural products and thus to raise agricultural income."

The message specifically indorsed the recent suggestion of Secretary of Agriculture Hyde to withdraw approximately 50,000,000 acres from cultivation, through leases to the Federal Government, the leases to be paid by a manufacturers' excise tax of 1 or 2 per cent on the principal farm commodities.

R. F. C. Publicity Attacked.

The section dealing with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation publicity, as required under the terms of the Garner amendment of last July, was the most vigorous in the President's message, yet it only hinted at the situation which has developed in various States during the last two weeks. No details were offered in the message.

"I earnestly recommend repeal of the procedure of the House of Representatives in publishing loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation," the message read. "These transactions should be open to the fullest degree to the representatives of the Congress, but their publication in the last few months has lead to widespread, mostly innocent, misinterpretation, vicious in effect, by depositors and alarmista who do not recognize that such borrowings represent an endeavor of the institutions to provide funds needed in service to their respective communities.

"This publication is destroying the usefulness and effectiveness of the Reconstruction Corporation, is exaggerating fears and is inducting new elements of grave danger. It is drying up the very sources of credit. The effect of such publication is forcing payment by distressed debtors to replenish bank funds. It is causing the hoarding of currency."

Home Bank Expansion.

The above paragraphs embody the complete text of that portion of the President's message relating to R. F. C. loans.

The seventh point in the message urged a congressional inquiry looking to the early expansion of the Home Loan banks "into a general mortgage discount system to be owned cooperatively by banks and mortgage companies," with adequate encouragement of the building and loan associations.

Finally, the message urged prompt action on the arms embargo proposal submitted to Congress six weeks ago.

"Peace would be promoted and the killing of men checked in various parts of the world today if the Executive had authority to join with other nations in preventing the shipment of arms to such localities. I earnestly recommend that the legislation proposed for this purpose be enacted."

DEMOCRATS TO PICK SPEAKER MARCH 2

March 2, to attend the inauguration and preferred the organization on that date.

Besides a Speaker, the Democrats will elect a floor leader and the offices of the House, including a clerk and a sergeant at arms.

Speaker Garner becomes Vice President March 4. Besides McDuffie, Rainey and Rankin, candidates to succeed him are Byrns, of Tennessee, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee; O'Connor, of New York, and Crosser, of Ohio.

Under the rules, a caucus can be forced by 25 petitioners. Arnold said, following receipt of the petition signed by members from many States which was delivered to him last night at his hotel, that telegrams would go forward today to the 124 new members-elect. The holdover members already are here.

Raymond Robins Leaves After Visit to President

(Associated Press.)

Raymond Robins, whom physicians declared a victim of amnesia when he disappeared for two and a half months while en route to visit President Hoover, yesterday announced from the White House that he had entirely returned "from the land of shadow."

The prohibition advocate declined to discuss the vote of the House upon the Senate-approved dry law repeal resolution, sending back to the States for ratification an amendment to abolish the eighteenth amendment.

"I stand on this question exactly where I have always stood upon it," he said.

Guggenheim Pays U. S. $3,449,107 Gift Tax

(Associated Press.)

Murray Guggenheim, of New York, industrialist and financier, yesterday deposited in the Treasury Department a check for $3,449,107—the largest gift tax ever paid by an individual in the history of the United States.

In 1917 Guggenheim established two trust funds, one for his son and the other for his daughter, totaling around $20,000,000. The funds were made revokable and therefore came outside the scope of the gift tax.

In 1925, however, he relinquished his power to revoke the trust, and by a decision of the Supreme Court two weeks ago, was held liable for a gift tax of $3,436,544, which, with interest, came to $3,449,107. Guggenheim himself attended the ceremony of depositing his check in payment.

TRAYLOR AND AYRES ASK U.S. FUNDS CUTS

Reduced Expenditures and Maintenance of Sound Money Stressed.

(Associated Press.)

Maintenance of sound money and reduced Government expenditures were urged before the Senate Finance Committee yesterday by two of the Nation's outstanding bankers as vital steps along the road to better times.

They were Melvin Traylor, of Chicago—boomed last spring for the Democratic presidential nomination—and Col. Leonard P. Ayres, of Cleveland, who lined up with other national leaders in insisting the budget be balanced and the currency unimpaired.

Traylor gave his views in an executive session of the committee, which heard during the day Dr. L. F. Barker, of Baltimore; F. E. Flanders, of Springfield, Vt.; Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and Julius W. Cone, Greensboro (N. C.) textile manufacturer.

Urges Debts Revision.

Col. Ayres, who asked in a telegram to be excused from appearing in the committee's survey of economic ills and possible remedies, also suggested in a letter readjustment of private and war debts and encouragement of trade, and long-term bonds to finance relief expenditures.

"I think the Government can aid most effectively by supporting credit and removing barriers to business," Col. Ayres concluded.

Traylor termed bringing Federal costs within income "the most important thing to do," discussed the banking situation and intimated to committee members he was more in favor of unit than branch banking and favored giving the Comptroller of the Currency broad powers to meet emergencies.

He said the people must be assured "there would be no interference with or disturbance of our historic sound-money policy."

Federal Costs Slash.

Dr. Barker, a former vice president of the American Medical Association, urged sharp reductions in Federal costs, particularly in veterans' benefit payments, while Cone, among other things, suggested war debt readjustment and revising antitrust laws to permit industrial price-fixing agreements.

O'Neal, insisting that agriculture must be aided through a broad program intended to ease debts and lift prices, advocated currency inflation by reducing the gold content of the dollar and guaranteed bank deposits.

Flanders recommended public works, a long-time bugetary policy, power for Congress to fix the hours of labor and opposed employment insurance as economically unsound.

he is insane," Twyman told the court.

Taking the witness chair, unconcernedly, Zangara gave stomach pains and hatred of capitalists as the reason for his desire to kill Mr. Roosevelt.

"I suffer all time from my stomach," Zangara told Judge E. C. Collins. "I no like the way capitalists take all money. When I read in paper the President come here, I decide to kill him.

"I decide to kill him and make him suffer. I want to make it 50-50. Since my stomach hurt I get even with capitalists by killing the President. My stomach hurt long time."

Zangara told the court he did not care whether he lived or not.

"I sick all time," he said. "I just think maybe cops kill me if I kill President."

HOUSE PASSES REPEAL PLAN; DEMAND FOR BEER RENEWED

ated their promises that they would carry their battle to every hamlet and church and revival tent throughout the length and breadth of the land. Although the drys lack at present the dominant leadership they had in the days of their ruthless power, it is expected that as soon as they recover and get down to the brass tacks of their campaign they will center their efforts on the driest of the States in the hope f winning at least 13.

A week ago the drys were pretty confident they could keep the Senate from passing a repeal measure which would be acceptable to the House, where Speaker Garner, Representative Henry T. Rainey (Democrat), of Illinois, majority floor leader, and others had said that the House would be permitted to vote again only on a measure which conformed to the party's pledges in the last campaign.

The sudden change which brought about repeal passage is believed by advocates of beer legislation to have enhanced prospects of passage of a Volstead modification measure at this session, too. The beer bill is in the Senate, where it was considerably changed from the Collier beer bill passed by the House.

Hope for Quick Vote.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson (Democrat), of Arkansas, said he was hopeful of getting the measure to a vote in time for House action before Congress dies two weeks hence. Senator John J. Blaine (Republican), of Wisconsin, in charge of the bill, also expressed hope of a quick vote.

On the House side, Speaker Garner and Representative Rainey and others said they were hopeful of quick action by the Senate. Everything would be done to speed the revised bill through the House if it is received from the Senate, they said.

The vote on the prohibition repeal resolution, however, is not expected to be duplicated on the beer bill. There are several on both sides of the Capitol who explain their repeal vote as a willingness to have the question submitted to the country, but who will not vote for a beer bill for one or another professed reason. There is a group among the antiprohibitionists, too, who believe that legalization of beer at this time would mean trouble and possibly do harm to the prospects of quick repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The House chamber and galleries and the corridors around them were crowded when Speaker Garner recognized Representative Rainey in the early afternoon to move suspension of the rules and adoption of the resolution.

Debate Is Spirited.

The debate was spirited and heated and was marked with frequent outbursts of "boos" and shouts. One after another member was recognized for a minute or two or three and most of them failed to heed their time limit, in the heat of their arguments, and fell victims to the pounding of the Speaker's gavel.

When the final vote was taken, however, there was quiet as the names of members were tolled off and they responded for or against repeal. When Speaker Garner finally announced the result there was an outburst which swept the galleries along with it and Mr. Garner stood on the rostrum and smiled and made no effort to shut off the demonstration for a few minutes.

Many members of the Senate watched the historic proceedings standing behind the crowded House seats. The galleries contained members of the families of members of the House and wives and relatives of several of the Cabinet members as well as members of the Diplomatic Corps.

Leaders of the drys were in the galleries. Among them was Canon William Sheafe Chase, who violated the rules of the House by sitting in the gallery and checking with pencil the result of the vote as it went along. Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, ardent dry, and others were in the galleries, which were so crowded that several dignified women sat on the steps of the aisles.

Writ Filed to Free 2 Bomb Suspects

Pair Held After Mystery Blast That Killed Miss Kirk.

Leonardtown, Md., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Seeking the release of two Negroes held in jail for more than a month in the Kirk automobile bombing case, habeas corpus proceedings were started today in Circuit Court by Attorney A. Kingsley Love, of Leonardtown.

The Negroes, John Gross and Paul Thomas, in jail since January 7 and 11, respectively, were held by order of the State's attorney in connection with the investigation of the mysterious explosion which killed Miss Ida Kirk, Chaptico philanthropist, while driving to Washington last month.

Love asked State's Attorney John H. K. Briscoe why the Negroes were being held. Judge William Neverell Loker set Wednesday at 10 a. m. as the date of the hearing. The attorney said he was not aware the two men were still in jail until a group of Negroes from Mechanicsville asked him to take the case.

Jury at Trial of 28 Told Pair Also Posed as Salesmen.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 20.—How two dry investigators posed as traveling salesmen who bootlegged on the side was related today at the trial of 28 Charles County residents accused of conspiring to violate the prohibition laws.

The testimony was given by D. C. Trexler, dry investigator, who with Charles A. Flynn, was working on the case. Trexler said he used the name of Baker and pretended that he sold clothing, while Flynn, it was testified, called himself Clark and said he sold lemon squeezers.

Trexler told the jury which is hearing the case before Judge W. Calvin Chesnut in the United States District Court, that he and Flynn had bought a considerable quantity of whiskey from the store of J. Louis Groves, at Waldorf, and that they were negotiating for the purchase of 100 kegs.

GLASS HAS DECIDED TO STAY IN SENATE

Capitol Friends Learn Virginian Has Declined Cabinet Appointment.

(Associated Press.)

Speculation that has been raging for weeks over whether Carter Glass would accept the Treasury portfolio in the Roosevelt Cabinet was ended by friends of the veteran Virginia senator yesterday with the information he would remain in the Senate.

Glass, who has been weighing his decision for weeks, was said in authoritative quarters at the Capitol to have informed President-elect Roosevelt of his declination yesterday shortly before or after he made a vigorous anti-inflation and antilending speech in the Senate.

While his associates contended the speech had no bearing on his decision to stay out of the Cabinet, it was one of the most important addresses made by the 75-year old former Treasury head in his 18 years in the Senate.

Wide Field Covered.

Covering a wide field, it included a recommendation for abolition of the Reconstruction Corporation, a lashing of the recently created Home Loan Bank system, stern opposition to lowering the gold content of the dollar if the Nation's gold reserves are not to be wiped out in 60 days, and receivership rather than further Government loans to railroads.

Glass' decision to stay in the Senate opened up new avenues of speculation. Some of those close to the President-elect believe the Treasury post now may go to William H. Woodin, New York financier and steel manufacturer.

Others saw good prospects for the other veteran Virginia senator—Claude A. Swanson—entering the Cabinet as Navy secretary, which would open the way for appointment to the Senate of former Gov. Harry Byrd.

Two Senators Remain.

Glass' decision leaves but two senators now regarded here as definitely in the Cabinet—Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, as head of the State Department, and Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, as Attorney General.

The fourth senator who had been mentioned in the tentative slates—Bronson Cutting, a New Mexico Republican Independent—is understood to have declined the Interior Secretaryship last Saturday in a talk with Mr. Roosevelt on the latter's special train en route north.

Glass himself declined to discuss his decision one way or the other, but those close to him were certain he had decided he could be of greater service in Congress.

One of Glass' aims now is to see that the House passes his banking reform bill, but whether House leaders will permit it to come to the floor before March 4, remains to be seen.

IDLE AID SUGGESTED IN HOUSING PROGRAM

John Ihlder, of Boston, Gives Plan Including Abolition of Slum Area.

A five-point program of meeting the problems of housing and rent in relief administration was advocated last night by John Ihlder, of the Boston Housing Association, in speaking before the Monday Evening Club at Willard Hotel.

The plan includes the demolition of all dwellings that are unsafe, the repair of houses worth the investment, the inclusion of the cost of shelter in the budgets of families who receive public relief and the creation of low dividend companies to provide homes for families of low income and to reconstruct slum areas.

Mr. Ihlder stated that such a program would aid in the eventual recovery of the country, saying: "Every community that has unemployment has a surplus of housing, and has need of good housing; housing involves so much money that its magnitude would affect even this depression; the building and equipment of a house stimulates more lines of industry and business than does any other enterprise."

Among those who participated in the discussion which followed Mr. Ihlder's talk were Walter S. Ufford, president of the Associated Charities; George S. Wilson, head of the Board of Public Welfare, and Leroy Halbert, of the District Emergency Relief Committee. Miss Katherine F. Lenroot, assistant chief of the Women's Bureau of the Labor Department, presided.

The Socialist Allegmeine Zeitung asserted that the arms shipment violated the provisions of the treaty of St. Germain. The paper called for the defeat of the Dollfus government as a demonstration that only the government and not the Austrian people, "played with the idea of helping Italy to furnish arms to Hungary."

"We in Vienna," the Allgemeine Zeitung editorial continued, "know that the government has violated the treaty of St. Germain and also that it has violated neutrality by attempting to facilitate the transport of arms for a decidedly militant group of states."

tence. He sought unsuccessfully to have his conviction set aside, first by the District Court of Appeals and then by the United States Supreme Court.

The latter court refused to review his case last month, and yesterday he was brought into the trial court to have sentence imposed. Justice Proctor, while ordering Siegel committed, asked Probation Officer Amos A. Steele to make a report on the advisability of placing Siegel on probation.

Last June Siegel was disbarred as an attorney, and yesterday Charles E. Ford, acting for Siegel, informed Justice Proctor that the disbarment was sufficient punishment without placing Siegel in confinement. The charge against him was that he attempted to bribe Deane to change some records in the jail here so that an Italian wanted in Pennsylvania for murder could be shown to have been incarcerated here at the time of the slaythere.

Montgomery County and Washington police were asked yesterday to search for Mrs. Margaret Estelle Duffy, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Reed, of Silver Spring, and Ella Burris, daughter of Mrs. James Burris, of Poolesville, Md., who have been missing since Saturday afternoon when they entered a taxicab near Walter Reed Hospital on their way to do some shopping.

They had been taken as far as the hospital by Mrs. Duffy's father. Their families told police they were at a loss to account for their disappearance.

ESCAPED SING SING MAN IN SLAIN TRIO

Woman and Barkeep Also Die in Mystery Speakeasy Shooting.

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—With only meager clews, police today sought the persons who shot and killed an escaped convict, a woman and a barkeeper in a midtown speakeasy some time after midnight.

A new hat and two ordinary pencils were the only tangible assets found as detectives scurried through night-life haunts.

It was at 2:30 a. m. that a middle-aged newspaper vender, selling his papers through the bright lights belt, found the front door ajar at "Porky's Place." Pushing in to lay the usual paper on the bar he found the two men and the woman dead on the floor, each with a bullet through the head.

The news vender, gasping, ran out and shouted for a policeman. Detectives soon swarmed in. Fingerprints helped identify the dead, as follows:

John Egan, 33, escaped convict, who sawed his way out of Sing Sing's "escape-proof" cell last year; Dorothy Miller, alias Dorothy McCarthy, 28, a brunette with a conviction for intoxication in 1926 and another for malicious mischief, flinging a salt cellar through a cafe window, and the barkeeper, Michael Griffin.

They obviously had met quick death. Egan's hand gripped the butt of a loaded .38 in his pocket. He had not had time to draw. Egan also had another bullet in his jaw, a fifth had bored into a wall and a sixth had smashed the heavy mahogany-framed bar mirror.

Detectives picked up in a nearby apartment three men and a woman, including Michael (Porky) Murray, reputed one-time owner of the place, but questioning them elicited nothing.

The front door ajar led to the belief one gunman had fled that way. In a back areaway giving on to a side street were a gray fedora and two pencils.

Detectives surmised there must have been at least two gunmen. A motive was lacking. The untouched till containing $40 and the change from a $5 bill on a table testified robbery was not intended. It may, said police, have been a fight over the woman; it may have been gangsters after Egan, the woman and barkeep having been slain merely to silence witnesses. It may have been simply a barroom brawl.

THREE QUIT MEETING IN TAXICAB DISPUTE

return of meters that the District delegates arose in indignation.

Mr. Sullivan vigorously criticized Col. Barber for allegedly representing the Inter-Federation Conference while appearing before the House District Committee recently as a member of the citizens joint transportation committee. He pointed out that the conference had not previously acted on the taxicab issue. Col Barber denied he had acted in any other capacity than that of an individual.

Specific Authority.

This led to a debate on another tangent and resulted in the adoption of future policy that no member of the conference could commit the body on any question without first receiving specific authority from the conference.

With the discussion of taxicabs proper resumed, Col. Barber read the report he had presented to the House District Committee and made a motion the conference go on record as desiring that the entire matter be left to the discretion of the Public Utilities Commission.

Rising to a defense of the District body, Mr. Yaden warned the conference that his delegation would never recede on its stand against the commission meter order.

He admitted his dissatisfaction with the present operation of the zone system because of the lack of uniformity of zone boundaries, the small rate of fare, long hours for drivers and lack of financial responsibility. These matters, he asserted, however, could be remedied by the commission without insistence upon meters.

Mr. Sullivan, who was also a member of the citizens' joint committee, also attacked the committee as "a dangerous" body because of its stand against certain amendments to the street railway merger bill.

Retorted Col. Barber: "Some actions taken by the District federation are dangerous, too, I think. The stand taken by this body is selfish and an imposition upon the residents of nearby Maryland.

Declared Demoralizing.

"As to the zone system, it is an absurdity from the transportation point of view and is demoralizing the taxicab industry."

After Col. Barber had presented his motion that the matter be left to the Public Utilities Commission to work out, Mr. Sullivan arose to object that proponents of the zone system had not had time to draft a reply. And, as it was but a few minutes until midnight, he proposed that action be deferred.

Failing in this, he moved for adjournment. This proposal also was defeated. He then arose in a huff and told the conference he could not remain at the meeting all night. When Col. Barber accused him of cowardice in running away, Mr. Sullivan retorted that such a remark was characteristic of the rudeness with which Col. Barber had treated him all evening.

PARIS RENEWS DEBT PLEA AFTER MARCH 4

Belief Is Evident in Capital Roosevelt Will Grant Hearing Request.

Paris, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—War debt negotiations between France and the United States will be resumed after Franklin D. Roosevelt has been inaugurated President March 4, Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour said today.

M. Paul-Boncour did not explain what form the new negotiations would take, but it was indicated that the approach would be made through the usual diplomatic channels.

(Last December France defaulted on a debt installment of $19,261,432 after Premier Edouard Herriot, a strong advocate of payment, had been overthrown. M. Paul-Boncour succeeded him as premier only to be overthrown on internal finance measures, making way for Edouard Daladier, the incumbent. On June 15 a debt installment of $40,738,568 will become due the United States.)

In the interview the foreign minister touched on several other international questions.

Concerning the Manchurian problem, he said France would stand by the decisions of the League of Nations and would act in full accord with the United States and Great Britain. The French position, he said, was based on the several peace pacts and the league convenant.

The foreign minister expressed gratification that Britain cooperated with France last week in questioning Austria about a shipment of arms received from Italy, possibly in violation of the treaty of St. Germain, which forbids concentration of arms by the nations defeated in the World War.

(Associated Press.)

Belief is evident here that France probably will be granted a hearing on war debts by the Roosevelt administration, but that payment defaulted last December will be required before any agreement can be effected.

Yesterday's announcement in Paris by Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour that he expects debt negotiations with the United States to be resumed after March 4, recalled that President-elect Roosevelt has let it be known he regarded the French default as deferment only.

That way of stating that the payment is expected to be made has been interpreted here as an inviting gesture toward the defaulting patrons. None of these has asked or been offered a hearing such as has been promised Great Britain and the other nations which kept up their payments. The general expectation has been that they would await the outcome of the negotiations with Britain to approach this Government.

CONFERENCE RAISES TRADE PARLEY HOPE

State, believed to be Senator Hull, of Tennessee, so that he and Sir Ronald could confer immediately.

The net result of the second Roosevelt-Lindsay meeting was the putting into motion of the machinery required to bring about a readjustment of the whole world economic structure and quick action was believed in prospect.

Sitting in his second-floor study, where he and Ambassador Lindsay had just talked, Mr. Roosevelt read the following statement to newspapermen:

"The British Ambassador has given to Mr. Roosevelt unofficially the views of the British government touching the broader aspects of the world economic and other situations.

"The conversation between them was confined to the general aspect of the problems. No specific proposals relating to the world economic conference or intergovernment debts were discussed.

"Resumption of the conversation will take place at an early date. Mr. Roosevelt will ask the new Secretary of State when the choice is announced to confer unofficially on the same subjects."

Submitting to a barrage of questions by reporters seeking more information, Roosevelt smiled, flicked his cigarette holder and always picked up the statement and referred questioners to it. He would not elucidate in the slightest.

Leaving the conference scene, the gigantic Lindsay stopped for a moment before entering his automobile to tell newspapermen he had nothing to add to what Mr. Roosevelt was going to tell. He said he concurred in the Roosevelt statement that was prepared before he left. Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that the statement was speaking only for himself.

Declination Not Received.

Asked if he had received a declination from Senator Glass, of Virginia, to become Secretary of the Treasury, Roosevelt said he had not. He said, however, he had been talking quite often recently with Glass.

William H. Woodin, president of the American Car & Foundry Co., was called suddenly to the Roosevelt home just before Sir Ronald arrived and about the time Washington was reporting the declination of Senator Glass.

Woodin now is looked upon as the next Secretary of the Treasury. Diminutive in stature and genial in nature, Woodin smiled when asked about his conference and dodged questions. He was in company with Prof. Raymond Moley, economic expert.

It is believed Mr. Roosevelt is ready to name this week his Secretaries of State and Treasury, so that they may go actually to work on the impending war debts and economic conversations with the British and other governments.

The belief that Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister, will come to this country very soon lessened after today's arrival of the British ambassador.

Also there seemed to be doubt that the war debts talk with the British originally slated for the first week in March actually would occur so soon.

Sage Dies

Former Slave Prophesied Voters' Landslide for Roosevelt.

Keith Sutherland, colored philosopher and prophet whose political forecast won him the thanks of President-elect Roosevelt, fulfilled his final prediction Sunday when he folded his hands about a Bible and died at his home, 1640 Eleventh street.

The former slave felt the approach of death Friday, his children said. He called his family together and instructed them to prepare a funeral, saying that he would die on the Sabbath.

Last August Sutherland dreamed of a great voters' landslide for Franklin D. Roosevelt. The dream was so "clear" that he wrote Mr. Roosevelt a description of the dream. Mr. Roosevelt responded with a "thank you" note saying he found the prediction "very encouraging."

For the past half century Sutherland has kept a restaurant in Washington where the walls were posted with his prophecies, many of them showing unusual foresight.

He was 79 years old. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 1 p. m. at the P. A. Lomax funeral home, Fourteenth and S streets. Interment will be in Harmony Cemetery. He is survived by four children.

MISSING BOY FOUND DEAD IN OHIO WOOD

Cleveland Child Who Vanished Four Months Ago Buried in Ravine.

Cleveland, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Police came to the end of the trial today in their widespread hunt for 8-year-old Ebert Holleron, who dropped from sight four months ago after telling a playmate "good by."

The body of a boy, identified by Police Chief George J. Matowitz and a neighbor as that of Ebert, was discovered in a lonely ravine at the edge of the city.

It apparently had lain there—covered by leaves and twigs and earth—for months. It was discovered by Albert Miller, 24, and Wilbert Kransteuber, 23, who were strolling nearby with their hunting dogs.

The discovery ended the intense search for the boy—a hunt in which hundreds of schoolmates, deputies, neighbors and police participated at various times—but did not explain the mystery of how he met death. Coroner A. J. Pearse said death apparently was due to natural causes, but police set out to solve the puzzle of how the body came to be in the ravine.

The shallow grave was in the same section where 500 Boy Scouts and other volunteers conducted a systematic hunt five days after Ebert disappeared, when an anonymous telephone call said the body was buried in that vicinity.

Ebert went to visit a playmate last October 22. Two girls living in the neighborhood said they saw him that afternoon and he told them he was on the way home. From there his trail vanished. The police were of the opinion that Ebert either was the victim of a hit-skip driver or had been seized by a degenerate.

The boy's parents were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Holleron. The father is an unemployed steel worker.

WOMAN FEUD VICTIM FIGHTS FOR HER LIFE

Husband, Lewis Oliver, Still Held Pending Outcome of Injuries.

Gamely fighting for her life, Mrs. Barbara Ritchie Oliver, 26-year-old mother, and daughter of A. C. Ritchie, former judge of the Fairfax (Va.) Juvenile Court, lies in a critical condition in Georgetown Hospital from gunshot wounds inflicted by her estranged husband Sunday near midnight when he invaded the Ritchie home and revived an alleged family feud.

The husband, Lewis Oliver, 33, son of the late State Senator Walter Tansill Oliver, who died November 23 from a fractured skull, resulting from an alleged encounter with Lewis Ritchie, the brother of Barbara Ritchie Oliver, is being held in the Fairfax County Jail, where he was taken shortly after the shooting. He is not charged, pending outcome of his victims' injuries.

Wilmer Holbrook, 27, of Fairfax, is recovering from gunshot wounds in the legs, also suffered in the shooting incident.

Two Alone in Room.

The tragedy occurred when young Oliver is alleged to have suddenly entered the living room of the Ritchie home, where his wife and Holbrook, a friend of the family, had been playing cards with Mrs. Oliver's sister, Miss Virginia Ritchie, and John McCauley, of Falls Church. They were said to have been alone at the time, other members of the party having gone to a nearby store for sandwiches.

Holbrook said that when Oliver entered the room and raised the gun to his shoulder he sprang at Oliver and during the struggle the gun, a double barreled shotgun, was discharged, several of the shots striking him in the leg. He fell to his knees, temporarily stunned, and during the interim Oliver raised the gun and shot his wife at close range. Mrs. Oliver ran from the house to the Fairfax Jail, where she was given first aid and then taken to the hospital in an automobile by McCauley and Dr. R. E. Feagans. At the hospital a blood transfusion was administered in an effort to save her life.

In the meantime, Sheriff E. P. Kirby and State Policeman C. R. Bullock arrived at the Ritchie home, where Oliver was being held by Holbrook and Carlton Simms, a neighbor, following a struggle.

Made Further Threats.

While being placed under arrest Oliver made further threats on the lives of Holbrook and Simms and, after walking about 200 feet, collapsed. Upon his recovery at the jail yesterday it was alleged that he made threats against the lives of Bullock and several residents of Fairfax. He refused to discuss the shooting with authorities.

After staying at the bedside of his daughter throughout the night at the hospital, Judge Ritchie was in a near state of collapse yesterday morning and returned to his home at Fairfax in the afternoon to rest.

Is Still Critical.

Mrs. Oliver had part of her left ear, arm and shoulder blown away by the full force of the 16-gauge shotgun. At the hospital her condition was described last night as "still critical."

Police said yesterday they believed the shooting was the outgrowth of differences between Oliver and his wife since their separation last September. At the time of the shooting Oliver was at liberty under bond on charges of assault on his wife with a dangerous weapon in Baltimore. He was to be tried on this charge in Baltimore on Thursday. Court records show that he has filed a writ of habeas corpus for custody of the child, and that a divorce action had been filed recently by his wife, also seeking custody of the infant, which is now in care of the mother's father.

review by the Board of Tax Appeals, but throws out the Senate pay cut for enlisted military personnel and the ban on automatic promotions.

It decreases the night pay differential to the old economy act basis. It provides that any workers furloughed 90 days be put through the same protective Civil Service machinery as though they were permanently discharged. The Senate bill provided for 60 days.

The Treasury-Postoffice phase of the report restores the full $19,000,000 air mail appropriation eliminated by the Senate and puts back in the measure funds stricken from Internal Revenue and Customs Bureau appropriations by the other chamber.

Whatever action is taken in the House today must be sent back to the Senate for concurrence. If that is lacking, both the Treasury-Postoffice bill and the economy rider must again go to conference.

Altogether $168,000,000 in estimated economies are removed from the Senate bill by the House report. House conferees hold, however, that all this and more can be saved by the wide powers to reorganize the Government proposed for the President.

"I am against the Bratton amendment," he said. "That amendment will not go through the House. Tomorrow it probably will come up on a separate motion for instructions, but a good-sized majority is against it. I will say to you that if you can get together in the right movement that will protect your interests, you can make certain that nothing will be done in this way or in any other to threaten your service."

Pointing out that although he was "not an organizer for the American Federation of Labor," Mr. Douglass declared that he is "a union man in this sense, that I am a lawyer, and lawyers believe in organization. I believe in organizing and in effective organization for all classes. I am the son of a laboring man, who was a hard-working longshoreman, and throughout my legislative career I have taken a stand with the laboring man, whether a Federal employe or not."

He declared that though "not against economy," he is opposed to "anything that means the discharge of Federal employes without regard to the efficiency of the Government service."

Urging Federal workers to organize, Edward McGrady, representing the American Federation of Labor, said: "I hope you will join an organization affiliated to the American Federation of Labor. If there is any group of Federal employes who should join, it is those of your department. The American Federation of Labor fought for many years to bring this department into being, and hopes that it will be the most important department of the Government."

Bert R. Landes, president of the lodge, presided. Arrangements were in charge of Miss Mary Turner, lodge secretary.

Bratton Plan Is Facing Defeat, Says Douglass

A prediction that the Bratton amendment will be defeated by the House was made by Representative John J. Douglass, of Massachusetts, in an address last night to Department of Labor Lodge, No. 12, of the American Federation of Government Employes, at the department main building.

$315,000,000 VOTED BY UNIT IN HOUSE FOR NAVY BUDGET

soldiers of the sea, the Marine Corps, should be allowed to have 15,343 enlisted men as at present. President Hoover wanted this strength cut to 13,600, but his Secretary of the Navy, Charles Francis Adams, before the House Committee testified he "should very much regret" the reduction.

Naval officers, too, opposed the change, and the committee voted to add $1,359,000 to bring the Marine Corps' total appropriation to $20,349,000.

These increases were balanced by reductions in other appropriations so that the bill as the House takes it up today will be exactly for the sum the budget proposed.

One of these reductions includes $5,432,000 in ship construction funds. Despite this cut, the Navy next year will have, in direct and indirect appropriations and transfers, $53,345,000 to spend on nine cruisers, three submarines, an aircraft carrier, eight destroyers and four destroyer leaders. Many of these will not be completed next fiscal year.

Even though these ships are constructed, Secretary Adams told the committee, the American Navy will be below treaty strength in underage ships when the existing treaties expire. And of treaties, he said:

"While believing in every reasonable effort to secure the blessings of peace by treaty agreements, I believe such agreements will be facilitated and America's voice have weight largely in proportion to her strength on the sea."

Attitude of Roosevelt.

Many "big Navy" advocates in Congress, who have been seeking unsuccessfully for years to authorize new ships, plan to renew their campaign in the next Congress.

They say they think President-elect Roosevelt will favor a strong Navy, possibly because of his experience as Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Mr. Roosevelt, however, has said nothing publicly about a new construction program, such as that for $600,000,000 proposed by

MONTGOMERY PAY SLASH DRAWS NEAR

Edmunds Pledges Tax Cut of 40 Cents Per $100 for County.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 20.—Montgomery County salaries are going to be cut 10 per cent, Delegate George L. Edmunds, leader of the county delegation in the House, said here tonight as he sketched the county's economy program which will be introduced in the legislature shortly.

This saving and others which have been decided upon will decrease the tax rate by about 40 cents on the $100, he said. Mr. Edmunds' statement was made in answer to a speech made by Delegate Walter W. Dawson, sole Republican, of the delegation.

Mr. Dawson's session on the floor produced the most heated oratory of the session in the House. It was precipitated by an unfavorable report on his bill reducing the interest on delinquent taxes and the cost to the delinquent taxpayer. He moved to substitute the bill for the report and launched into speech, pointing out that the bill would reduce penalties on overdue taxes from about $16 per lot to less than $1.

Mr. Edmunds rose to answer Mr. Dawson and sketched the county's program. Dawson asked him whether the new assessments would not raise taxes. Edmunds said the assessments were raised only on land held for speculative purposes. The move to substitute was lost viva voce, and the unfavorable report was adopted.

In the Senate a bill levying an additional tax of 5 per cent on parimutuel bets was introduced by Senator E. Milton Altfeld, of Baltimore. This would yield about $2,000,000, he estimated, of which half should go to Baltimore City and half to the counties. The counties' share would be divided on the basis of population.

Such a tax would eliminate all additional levies and place a heavier burden on an industry which can afford to pay, Senator Altfeld said. With the budget slashes now possible, Baltimore's share of about $1,000,000 would be sufficient to fund its proposed bond issue for relief.

Bills making minor changes in the laws governing the administration of estates were introduced in both houses.

The Prince Georges County delegation tonight held a hearing for citizens of Eagle Harbor who are asking changes in the town's charter.

JAPANESE LAUNCH MAJOR JEHOL DRIVE

ing Japan in the Manchurian controversy.

The acting premier asserted that there "remains little prospect of peace in the Far East anyway," and indicated that he and the other Chinese leaders were resigned to a "death struggle" with Japan in defense of Jehol.

The Chinese generals in the war zone, including Jehol Province itself, together with leaders of roving guerilla bands, issued a proclamation declaring their loyalty to the Peiping and Nanking leaders. The document declared they would never retreat and that any advance by Japanese and Manchukuo troops on any point would be met with "furious resistance."

The military headquarters of the Chinese armies in the war area meanwhile proceeded with feverish plans for defense of Jehol and the Peiping-Tientsin area just south of the Great Wall. Conservative estimates placed the Chinese troops already in the field at between 80,000 and 100,000 well-equipped fighting men, hardened by years in recurrent campaigns in Chinese civil wars.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

WELL, Mr. Hoover got the corner stone of the Archives Building into place yesterday afternoon. The ceremonies went forward in defiance of clouds with their leaden gray threats.

It would have been a poor place for a bystander to have felt the urge to sneeze and then to have reached for his handkerchief in his hip pocket. We didn't want to sneeze, certainly with all those Metropolitan policemen.

What with all the haste in laying corner stones, the 4th of March comes none too late. There'll be very few corner stones left for F. D. R. to lay. But then perhaps F. D. R. will be rather busy otherwise.

WILLIAM GIBBS McADOO seems to have set a record for getting his name on postoffice corner stones all over the country as Secretary of the Treasury under Woodrow Wilson, but we'd say Mr. Hoover's name will adorn more buildings in Washington than many other Presidents to come. After all, isn't construction and corner stone laying the job of an engineer?

Commerce, Labor, Interstate Commerce, Postoffice, Archives—we hope we've not overlooked any.

Maybe the new deal will permit the incoming President to unveil a few breweries, provided he gets a second term and provided the necessary number of States agree with Congress and F. D. R. that we need our beer back. Then we can sing that old song written by Charles Fletcher, "Children Cry for It."

The second annual exhibition of the Association of Federal Architects concluded its display in the patio of the Agricultural Building yesterday. Approximately forty entries were judged by the jury of awards, and given a gold star, indicating first of merit, or a red star, signifying second of merit.

W. J. Hartgroves, Treasury, was the "honor" man, receiving three gold star awards. Next in line, with two gold stars, were J. E. Eckloff, Navy, and W. A. Lockard and T. S. McClelland, both of Treasury. Others in the first division, with one gold star, were:

R. H. Woodward, construction division, Quartermaster General; Julian Brown and L. C. Winans, both of Navy; H. V. Meakins, V. M. Flagg, C. R. Irwin and F. L. Molby, each of the Veterns' Administration; H. T. Bell, N. P. Shealy, W. O. Bender, A. R. J. Capece, R. C. Bohon, H. J. Kelly and G. H. Buckingham, all of the Treasury.

In the second division group, with one red star, were L. M. Leisenring, construction division, Quartermaster General; L. P. Johnston, Navy; Julian Brown, Veterans' Administration; E. C. Bachschmidt, E. C. Harper, L. Krauss, T. S. McClelland, J. A. Lane and G. H. Buckingham, all of the Treasury.

The jury of awards particularly commended the supervising architect's office, Treasury, upon the presentation of its sketches.

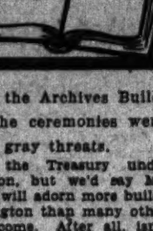
Meet Prize Winner In Diary Competition

Today we begin another week of prize competition. This week's winner is Henry J. Frank, administrative division, internal revenue publications. Mr. Frank formerly was connected with Ohio newspapers on mechanical and editorial staffs. He entered the Government Printing Office as a compositor and proofreader; thence to clerk in the purchasing agent's office.



HENRY J. FRANK

In 1913 Mr. Frank was appointed clerk in income tax and was assigned to the revenue agents and rules and regulations section.

It will be recalled that we commented on Mr. Frank's handwriting recently as something beautiful. Handwriting seems fast becoming a lost art.

Today is prize award day. And that brings to mind a suggestion just made: Why not organize after awhile a get-together of the prize winners in order that there might be a fraternal merger, at least for an evening, without fear of violating the anti-trust laws?

Very good. That is on the calendar for an early party—although we'll probably stay late.

TAKOMA WILL VOTE ON PAY FOR COUNCIL

Referendum on Salaries for Mayor and Members Is Set for Election.

Payment of annual salaries to the mayor and council of Takoma Park, Md., will be submitted to a referendum at the town election, it was voted at a meeting of the council last night.

The measure provides a salary of $600 for the mayor and $300 for each councilman as an annual salary. It was proposed by Councilman Irvine H. Ware and seconded by Councilman Martin Iverson. Mr. Iverson announced that he would not be a candidate for reelection at the time he seconded the motion.

The town several years ago rejected a similar proposal which provided $1,200 for the mayor and $300 for council members.

Charter Hearing Monday.

A bill drafted by Corporation Counsel E. Barrett Prettyman, which provides for amendments to the town charter, was presented to the council.

A hearing will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock, at the town firehouse, at which time residents and taxpayers will be heard.

Among the more important amendments are: Extension of the time between the town caucus and the town election, from one to two weeks; increase of the amounts of the treasurer's bond to 40 per cent of the estimated annual revenue; permission for the town to purchase property offered at tax sale, and reduction of interest on property sold for taxes from 15 to 10 per cent.

Bill for New Justice.

A second bill to provide for a fourth justice of the peace for the Thirteenth Election District, with the stipulation that he reside in Takoma Park, is to be presented to the Legislature by Delegate Marvin Farrington, it was announced.

Councilman R. G. Sherburne proposed that the corporation counsel be given an annual salary of $600. A special meeting of the council, which followed the regular meeting, was considering this last night.

The council appointed Grant Benton as a special officer to act as dog impounder, and J. H. Strawser as a special police officer to be assigned to the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital.

Ritchie Appoints Ghinger at $10,000

Bank Commissioner Salary Increase Is Attacked by Senate Bloc.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 20.—The appointment of a new banking commissioner, at an increased salary of $10,000, was announced by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie today, and the increase was at once attacked by the economy bloc in the Senate. The new appointee is John J. Ghinger, vice president and comptroller of the Baltimore Trust Co. John W. Page, former commissioner, who resigned recently, was paid $6,500.

"It is not possible to procure Mr. Ghinger's services for that amount," Gov. Ritchie said. "I think, however, that this is one position in the State the salary of which can be increased to the point necessary to get a man thoroughly qualified to fill it." He then suggested the pay be increased to $10,000.

The comment of Senator Joseph Allan Coad (Democrat), St. Marys, was immediate and emphatic. "I'm not voting any man $10,000. There is not a job in the State worth $10,000. I think salaries are entirely too high now—out of line with people's ability to pay," Senator Coad said. Other senators also expressed their opposition to raising the pay of any office.

ONLY 2 INDICTMENTS FOUND IN ARLINGTON

Smallest Criminal Docket in History, Declares Court Officials.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

Only two indictments were returned by the grand jury at the opening of the February term of the Circuit Court of Arlington County yesterday, declared by officials the smallest criminal docket in the history of the court.

Those indicted are Louis Anderson, alias "Blue Boy," charged with maliciously and feloniously killing Henry William on December 28, 1932, both colored, and Raymond Epps, colored, charged with housebreaking.

Pleading guilty to the charge before Judge Walter T. McCarthy, Epps was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail in addition to a fine of $1.

Anderson pleaded not guilty. The court set March 15 for the trial and appointed Attorney H. Bruce Green as Anderson's counsel.

Tuesday, March 21, was set for the case of former County Treasurer E. Wade Ball, who stands indicted for alleged failure to turn over $515,959, the reputed total county fund shortage, to the county clerk at the time he resigned. It is expected by some officials that the trial will last for at least ten days.

A resolution adopted by the grand jury commending Sheriff Howard B. Fields and his men was refused acceptance by the court. Judge McCarthy stated the resolution, signed by the foreman, William E. A. McShea, could be turned over to the sheriff if the jury so wished. This was done.

The court set Friday, March 17, for hearing divorce cases.

The Public Utilities Commission of Arlington County at its first meeting last night at the county courthouse voted to prosecute vigorously the gas-rate reduction case now pending before the State Corporation Commission. A hearing on the case will be held March 3 and the public utilities group indorsed the appointment of G. O. Basha as special counsel to present evidence to show that the rates are now excessive. The present gas rate is $1.50 and a 30-cent reduction is sought.

It was decided to hold the regular meetings of the commission on the first Monday of each month and special meetings on the third Monday.

Albert M. Jones was elected secretary of the commission, and Chairman Edmund D. Campbell announced the appointment of the following subchairmen: Maj. C. J. Caphart, gas rates; Albert M. Jones, transportation; P. S. Schawb, telephone, and James Chinn, electric rates.

The Arlington County Monarch Club has unanimously adopted a resolution calling for the reappointment of Fletcher Kemp as superintendent of county schools.

A letter has been directed to the chairman of the board, John M. Stewart, advising him of the action.

The special budget committee appointed by the recently organized Taxpayers League of Arlington County, composed of business men, will meet with County Manager Roy S. Braden this afternoon in the offices of Judge Harry R. Thomas, chairman.

Mr. Braden will explain the tentative budget which is now before the county board for consideration.

There will be a meeting of the past matrons and patrons association of the Mary Washington Chapter, No. 50, Order of the Eastern Star at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of Mrs. Cora Fields, Ballston.

Baltimore Woman, 85, Burns to Death in Home

Baltimore, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—An 85-year-old woman, Mrs. Mary Kuhlman, was burned to death here today in her kitchen.

Firemen, who had been called by neighbors after they smelled smoke, found the woman's body lying on the floor. They said her clothes apparently had caught fire from a small stove and she had been unable to save herself.

ALEXANDRIA NURSES REVISE THEIR RATES

Repair Work on River Road Deferred Until Today by Adverse Weather.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Alexandria Nurses Alumnae, through Mrs. Mae Bowman, president, announced yesterday that rates for nursing in Alexandria have been revised, the new rates for 8, 10 and 12-hour nursing services being $4, $5, and $6, respectively, and where two patients are nursed, a fee of $1 will be charged for the extra person.

Hourly nursing will be on the basis of $1 for the first hour and 50 cents for each additional hour. Hyperdermics, formerly 75 cents, have been reduced to 50 cents. A charge of $5 will be made for assisting with delivery in the home, the price for this service formerly being $10.

The custom prevailing in the Alexandria hospital of providing special nursing service free of charge for persons unable to pay, will be continued by Miss Fanny Carter, superintendent, nurses being obtained through the local registry.

The new schedule of rates, it is stated, will prevail throughout Virginia, and has been adopted after a study of the economic situation by leaders of the Virginia Nursing Association, on information supplied by Miss Ethel Smith, inspector of training schools in the State. The new schedule becomes effective March 1.

The Old Dominion Boat Club, of Alexandria, will give a special George Washington dance tonight at the clubhouse from 10:30 to 1:30 o'clock with music by McWilliams' Old Dominion Orchestra. John J. Curtin is chairman of the entertainment committee of the club.

A delegation of Alexandria members of the Order of Rebekahs last night attended a booster meeting of the Rebekahs of the Eighth District at Dumfries.

The Alexandria and Washington voitures of the Forty and Eight, honor society of the American Legion, will stage a joint "wreck," or initiation tonight in Armory Hall, Alexandria. The wreck will be preceded by a dinner, which women will attend, and during the wreck they will be entertained at a special program in Gadsby's Tavern. A dance will be held in the tavern after the wreck.

Owing to adverse weather conditions yesterday, the work of reconstruction of the River road, between Alexandria and Washington, was postponed. The work will be started today if conditions are favorable, according to City Manager Wallace Lawrence.

The improvement will consist of the construction of a roadway 28 feet wide from Four Mile Run, the northern corporate limit of Alexandria, to Hume avenue.

The newly elected officers of the Alexandria Chapter, De Molay, were installed last night at a public meeting held in the lodgeroom of the Elks Home, on Prince street. The ceremonies were conducted by the Robert Bruce Chapter of Washington and a musical program was presented following the installation.

The committee on arrangements was composed of James Thompson, Walter S. Nicklin, jr., Godfrey Runaldue, Joseph Price, jr., Charles Bettes and Marvin Zimmerman.

A special meeting of the various committees which will have charge of the annual Elks' "stampede" for the benefit of the charity fund of Alexandria Lodge, No. 786, was held last night in the Elks clubroom. The affair will be held April 24 to 29.

J. E. Griesemer is general chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Referendum Recommended On Montgomery Blue Laws

Following a public hearing last night in the Rockville Courthouse, the committee on internal improvements of the Montgomery County Civic Federation voted to recommend a referendum on abolition of blue laws for Montgomery County and for a measure which would permit the zoning of Sandy Spring.

The committee, headed by W. I. Cleveland, heard lengthy discussion of the proposed measure which would provide supervision of zoning in the county, outside of the metropolitan area, by the Montgomery County Commissioners. General sentiment appeared to oppose county-wide zoning, and the committee restricting its recommendation to Sandy Spring, which had asked for zoning.

The blue laws amendment was offered by S. H. Miller, of Bethesda, and John H. Hiser, proprietor of the State Theater, Bethesda. George H. Lamar, Rockville lawyer, and Harry M. Martin, real estate dealer, opposed any change in the laws. The committee decided a referendum would be the fairest way of settling the question.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

YOU have to throw away your old things!

Yes, you do—or at least throw them as far away as a trunk in the attic, or in the direction of deserving relatives or maids.

That reluctant, annoyed clinging to something that one no longer likes, that one positively dislikes, as a fact, just because it seems still useful, is one of the poorest economies in the world. Don't do it. First, before you throw it away, you might indeed see whether it can be altered or not to be more like something you can use.

The biggest stumbling block to being one's own maid is that—the having of old things around. The next one is lack of automatic and immediate tidiness—hanging up a frock the minute it is taken off, putting shoes away, and, above all, putting things into the laundry bag with the same gesture one uses in removing them from oneself.

But we digress. It is the oldish things which are the biggest bore. Don't do it. If you have something you don't like or don't use, just pass it into oblivion. The day may come—will probably come, in fact—when you will look at it with a different eye. Meanwhile, don't look at it with any eyes!

A very interesting pyjama design suggests two differently colored remnants, each one needing to be only a yard and a quarter, or a yard and less than a half each. Each pyjama made from remnants or scrapbag scraps is ample and lovely, and easily made—in this week's illustrated leaflet for which you need only send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. A house pyjama, a beach pyjama, a tea pyjama, and an all-around and for every occasion pyjama—that's what they are—and each and every one made from remnants! Better send for the leaflet before you just forget about it—and wish you hadn't.

Au Revoir.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

MRS. E. J. T. writes: "What with all the emphasis on economy, on all sides; in the Government, in offices, in the home, suppose we inject an economy plan in the beauty platform, too? What do you suggest, Miss Pierce? As I see it there are three groups. The first, unfortunately, can not assure anything for beauty for they haven't even the bare necessities. The second have had to cut down considerably. Shall they substitute cheaper cosmetics, shall they use less of the better grade, shall they make their toiletries at home? The third we need hardly talk about because they can, happily, still go on enjoying the very finest. The writer happens to fall in the second group. My budget provides a little for cosmetics, but it's precious little. I've never made creams or lotions at home and the idea doesn't appeal to me somehow. I'm not so handy at mixing and the psychological effect worries me. I'm sure I could never feel "like a million" after a massage with homemades, even if I did look as well. Let's have your answer in the paper and if you approve of homemades, how about some formulas?

• • • •

Seems to me Mrs. E. J. T. has answered her own letter, and as admirably as any beauty specialist could. The psychological effect which she mentions is terribly important to women. For thos who can afford them, for instance, facials in luxurious salons are highly recommended. Even if the treatment does not check oiliness, or overcome an excessive shine on the nose, or soften a chapped skin, or help to dim wrinkles, the mere fact that you come out feeling and looking so much better makes such a treatment worth its weight in gold. Furthermore, the finer treatments should in time correct conditions such as those named. And such treatments send you forth with that pulled up, million dollar look and feel—why the finest gown and hat can't do as much for you.

Likewise with preparations. My answer to E. J. T. is if you can continue to buy them by all means do so. As an economical measure use a little less. Don't slather the cleansing cream on thick, wasting one-third. Take up a little with a spatula or fingertips and smooth on, then add as you need. Dilute your astringent or tonic with a little ice if you need to. Blend just a wee bit of cream rouge over the cheek and add more if the color is too pale. It's much more satisfactory all around than applying too much to begin with. Or make one preparation take the place of two where possible; a wrinkle oil, for instance to soften blackheads and dim wrinkles. I honestly feel that good preparations can be bought today for comparatively little and the same fine ingredients and perfumes would cost more at home.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

UNEMOTIONAL THINKING.

THERE have been four Presidents of the United States from New England. All were of old New England stock and their personalities were typical of these people. Each made contribution to his country.

The fourth of the list, Calvin Coolidge, has just died—too recently for any agreement as to what was his great contribution. Pending such decision, this suggestion is offered for consideration.

It is said that Mr. Coolidge gave vent to his grief when his son died and some may recall other occasions on which he exhibited emotion. However, there were not many such of which the public had knowledge. Doubtless he felt emotions, but he had them well in hand. Certain it is that he did not let his emotions masquerade as thoughts. His thinking was always clear, cold and logical.

What he gave out as opinions were the result of mental rather than emotional processes.

It is said that fear is a universal impulse. In the main, it is a very harmful indulgence, but there are fields in which its operation makes for good. But, whether wholesome or harmful, it should never be allowed to pass for thinking.

Wishful thinking is even more harmful than the kind of thinking that is dyed by fear. It is closely akin to fantasy, day dreaming and dementia praecox. The asylums are loaded with people who went down because of it. In its milder manifestations it vitiates judgment and destroys capacity for weighing values.

More than any other President in recent years, Mr. Coolidge's thinking was not warped by fear, on the one hand, or Pollyanna thinking on the other. Men in high position must depend very much upon others. It is necessary, therefore, that their judgment of men should be good.

Mr. Coolidge was unusually able to think rather than to feel when weighing men.

The President is a great force in public life, aside from those fields which relate to his official acts. The example of Mr. Coolidge as a clear thinker, one who did not let his emotions flow over into thinking, was a badly needed influence for good.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

THE GREATEST PASS IN HISTORY.

I have heretofore discussed the principle underlying Plastic Valuation, the method used by most experts in preference to a mathematical count to determine the trick-taking capacities of the combined hands. I shall not again in this article discuss the principles, but I will give the story of what I believe to be the greatest pass in Bridge history, which vividly illustrates the mechanism of Plastic Valuation. It is a remarkable example of the marvelous precision of thought involved in the process of elimination when used by a master player.

This is a tale of how a masterful mind can reconstruct from a single bid his partner's entire hand with such uncanny precision that out of millions of possible hands this is the only hand that partner could hold, assuming that his bid is correct.

The bidding and the hand actually occurred (with slight modifications) in the first Anglo-American Match, in which the United States team of four, captained by the writer, played against two selected English teams.

The master mind was my favorite man-partner, Mr. Theodore A. Lightner. One bid, made by me, was the only clew that led him to a series of brilliant inferences, and eventually culminated in the reconstruction of my entire hand. The bidding was:

Both sides vulnerable.

Opponents do not bid.

Mr. Lightner (Dealer)	The Author
1♠	5♡!
Pass!!

Mr. Lightner held:

Spades	A K Q J 5 2
Hearts	J
Diamonds	K Q 2
Clubs	K J 10

A five heart bid is a mighty urgent invitation to bid a Slam—practically a royal command, in fact. Is there a hero on the face of this earth who would have declined to bid six hearts, especially when it is remembered that 3 honor-tricks is the minimum I had a logical right to expect in Mr. Lightner's hand, and that he actually held 4 honor-tricks, not to count his solid spade suit? Obviously, only a beginner or a master mind could have passed with such a hand! My five heart bid involved no special convention—in fact, such a bidding situation had never before occurred in our partnership game. But I trusted that my partner (and there is only one other in the world whom I could have trusted as much) would rise to the unusual occasion and reason the hand out. This is how he did it.

Step 1. Why this startling five heart bid? Was there another and more scientific bid? Decidedly, yes! A Forcing Take-out of three hearts would guarantee that the bidding be kept open, and at the same time it would offer the tremendous advantage of securing, while the bidding was still low, added information from my (Lightner's) responses.

Step 2. This fellow Culbertson either has gone temporarily insane or has something startlingly unusual up his sleeve and is trying to signal and warn me. Why didn't he make a Forcing three heart bid?

Step 3. The only reason is that he does not have at least 3½ honor-tricks, and, since he bid only five hearts, he obviously feared to mislead me into contracting for a losing Slam bid. Therefore, he has no outside trick.

Step 4. A five heart bid strongly invites partner to bid six. Culbertson therefore practically guarantees 11 tricks for combined hands. It would be ridiculous to invite me (Lightner) to bid six and not even be able to guarantee a five contract should I decline the invitation. In order to guarantee 11 tricks (five-odd) for the combined hands, Culbertson can not expect more than 2 sure winners in my hand. It is true that I should have 2½ honor-tricks, but the third trick is merely a probability and not a reasonable certainty. Therefore, Culbertson has at least 9 tricks—9 sure winners in his hand.

Step 5. If Culbertson guarantees 9 tricks and at the same time has no outside trick, he can have nothing else than:

Spades	?
Hearts	A K Q 8 7 6 5 4 3
Diamonds	?
Clubs	?

He can not hold:

Spades	?
Hearts	K Q 10 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
Diamonds	?
Clubs	?

because a Slam invitation without an Ace is quite risky.

The climax is now reached with dramatic suddenness and precision.

Step 6. The next problem is to place the remaining four cards. Culbertson must have one and very probably two spades. With a void in partner's bad suit, it would be highly dangerous to invite a Slam. There remain but two cards for clubs and diamonds, and here again the inference is strong that Culbertson holds a small diamond and a small club. If Culbertson held 2-0, he should have bid a direct Slam, for then his chances would have been better than even for a successful Slam, since opponents are more likely to lead a suit of which he has a void.

It follows that Culbertson's hand, when reconstructed, must be:

Spades	6 3
Hearts	A K Q 10 8 7 6 5 4
Diamonds	7

Step 7. It follows that at least two outstanding Aces, in diamonds and clubs, are not only held by opponents, but in all probability they will win!

Conclusion—That was the hand that the author actually held. A hand of this type had never before occurred in our partnership game, and frankly I was quite stumped how to bid it. I had too many losers for a direct Small Slam bid, and had I made a Forcing three heart Takeout, I would have conveyed to Mr. Lightner the very inference that I tried to avoid, to wit: That I had some outside strength. I therefore had no other way but to "create" a new bid, trusting that my brilliant partner would be able to interpret it. And that was why Mr. Lightner passed, and by so doing made the greatest pass in the history of Bridge.

Playing al la papa, a la mama, a Small Slam bid and a penalty of 1 trick were inevitable.

The child born on this February 21 is apt to be emotionally unstable; that is, inclined to sudden fits of temper, tantrums and to frequent spells of crying. These characteristics will no doubt be early outgrown.

Born on February 21, you are most likely a person who speaks little of himself or his affairs. You are not at all secretive, nor bashful. You simply prefer to go your way quietly, neither boasting about your victories and achievements nor complaining about your difficulties.

The Meanderer

Recommends Home-Made Movies — To Be Followed by Gingerbread or Spice Cake; Mechanical Card Dealer.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Children will greet with shrill glee the entirely suitable films that are rentable nowadays at low prices. The Meanderer is most interested in a new club plan whereby a number of films suitable for taking home to show the children may be rented, the entire cost of the plan being only $2.50 for six months. Many comedy features children enjoy are among the repertoire of the camera shop's list of movies for the home. If a projector has not been purchased, it will cost surprisingly little, for the shop the Meanderer visited offers one at $10. Movies made at home are surely inexpensive enough to be the priceless treasures of every family, when the movie camera costs as little as $6.75. Both the camera and projector are simple to operate.

While the children amuse themselves with the movie machine, the grownups may play with the very new, mechanical card dealer the Meanderer saw being demonstrated in a camera shop window in the National Press Building on Fourteenth street. Dealing the cards needn't ever be onerous again. This mechanical dealer—special at only $1.49—can not fail to deal properly. Your visitors for the inaugural will be entertained with this new device for the bridge table.

After the children's movie, or the adults' bridge game the Meanderer's suggestions are the awfully good spice cake she told you about the other day—or some presto-almost instantaneous gingerbread—that comes out of a can. The spice cake, made by bakeries on Fourteenth street, around the corner from F street, and on F street, in the heart of the shopping district, had many buyers the other day when the Meanderer described it to her readers, with a special price of 49 cents to column readers. The bakery was gratified with your response and is repeating the spice cake offer today. Sultana icing—meaning a home-made, fluffy boiled icing, carmel flavored, containing chopped raisins, covers the big spice cake. The gingerbread we mention may be made in a mere whisk, for it comes with the dry ingredients put up in packages, only needing water to make a perfect gingerbread. And this package of dry ingredients for gingerbread costs only 25 cents in a big, high class grocery on Fourteenth street, known to discriminating grocery store shoppers for years.

Other magic mixtures that may be made as quickly as the gingerbread, being available in packages of complete dry ingredients only needing water or fruit juice for making batter, include devil's food cake, muffins and fruit cake. The muffins and devil's food cost 25 cents for the packages and the fruit cake mixture, which includes a special pan for baking, is 39 cents. The old, established high-class grocery on Fourteenth street sells all the mixtures herein mentioned.

Forget-me-nots in deep blue, very fresh, attracted the Meanderer's eye in a flower shop near the grocery she visited. The appealing little blue flowers are only 50 cents a bunch. For that price you also can get dainty yellow daisies, sweet peas or carnations. Particularly nice in this flower shop is a dull green pottery jug, of the strawberry jug type originating in Spain, filled with trailing, graceful miniature ivy, for $2.50.

UP TO THE STATES.

Congress has gone as far as it can toward repeal of the eighteenth amendment. By favorable votes in both the House and Senate the issue has been passed on to the States. The Constitution authorizes Congress to "propose" amendments for submission either to State legislatures or to conventions in the States. But when both houses of Congress have so agreed upon a proposed amendment their power over it ceases.

Some of the militant wets will ask Congress to prescribe the procedure to be followed by the State conventions. Their objective is to force repeal upon the Nation in disregard of the rights of the States to handle the issue in their own way. It is not probable that such an assault upon the States' prerogatives will command any appreciable support in Congress, not even among the aggressive wets. Leaders among the wet forces are too prudent to fumble their victory in that manner.

Many of the State legislatures are now in session. Some are already working on bills calling for State conventions to pass judgment on the proposed twenty-first amendment. Several States are engaged in a race for the honor of being first to ratify it. Machinery for a number of State conventions will be put into motion before Congress could formulate regulations, even if it should decide to encroach upon the States' authority. Can Congress upset the plans of the States to hold constitutional conventions within their own boundaries, and dictate to them how conventions shall be organized?

Any attempt by Congress to tell the States how to conduct a State convention would inject a new and momentous issue into the ratification of the repeal measure. The question of wiping out national prohibition might be subordinated to the question of congressional encroachment upon State functions. Repeal might be defeated by States fighting to preserve their rights. Interjection of such an issue into the ratification movement would be deplorable indeed.

Short-cuts to amendment of the Constitution ought not to be permitted under any circumstances. Congress has launched the proposed twenty-first amendment upon its journey to the State capitals as the result of a sudden wave of wet sentiment. There is no way of determining the will of the people, except through careful and deliberate action by the people through their State governments. If there is an overwhelming demand for repeal, the proposed amendment will be adopted. Let the States decide the issue in their own way. The Nation will then be willing to abide by the outcome, for the people through their local institutions will retain control of the fundamental law in their own hands.

THE ARMAMENT DEBATE.

At the five-power conference last December it was agreed, as a final necessary step, to get Germany back in the general disarmament conference at Geneva, to grant the Reich equality in armament. With the reassembling of the nations at Geneva this month Germany resumed attendance, prepared to talk about the reduction of armaments of other nations as prescribed by the Versailles treaty, or to increase her own war forces to match those of her neighbors. But when the question of practical application of the December understanding was broached by Germany, Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour, of France, announced that equality of armament was not yet a conference principle; that it had been agreed upon by a small group of powers, but could not be finally conceded except within a system of security.

Germany now feels that she has been lured back into the disarmament conference by a tentative assurance from its most important members that is now virtually repudiated. Instead of taking up the details of equalizing armaments under the principle already agreed upon, Germany complains that France proposes to begin all over again, and with new conditions as to her own position. The French, on the other hand, are smarting under the unsympathetic reception accorded their demands for security. The atmosphere of the conference is once more far from harmonious.

Since the December agreement was reached Germany has acted on the assumption that modification of the restrictions of the Versailles treaty was as good as accomplished, and has been making plans for expansion of arms, to include artillery, tanks and airplanes. If no reduction plans are adopted by other nations and Germany is denied the right to expand her forces at the present Geneva session, sentiment in Berlin will demand that the government proceed to increase armaments without specific authority. There are numerous indications that the conference may soon reach an impasse similar to that which caused its adjournment last year.

WHAT CONGRESS CAN DO.

Several matters of great importance can be disposed of by Congress during the present session if it will get busy. President Hoover's message of yesterday reminds Congress that some of these measures have been well considered and are ripe for a vote. Among them he recommends immediate enactment of the bankruptcy bill, which he considers of "critical importance" for the preservation of business integrity, whether it applies to farmers or other individuals, corporations or railroads. This bill has passed the House, and has met with general public approval. The Senate should act upon it before March 4, thereby averting receiverships and bankruptcies which might occur before the extra session.

The Glass banking bill also receives presidential endorsement as a measure calling for immediate action to strengthen the credit system. Congress should also authorize an increase in the amounts that can be loaned to States and municipalities for the relief of distress. These are emergency measures, and delay in enacting them is dangerous.

Mr. Hoover asks Congress to suppress publication of the loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Members of Congress could have full access to this information, but publication of loans to banks is misunderstood by the public, and causes runs in some cases. Thus the good work of the R. F. C. is actually turned into harmful action by publicity.

Approval of the St. Lawrence seaway treaty, enactment of farm relief legislation on the lines proposed by the Secretary of Agriculture, and expansion of the Home Loan Bank system into an organization to facilitate long-time credit are recommended by the President.

Again Mr. Hoover asks Congress to authorize him to cooperate with other governments in preventing the shipment of war material to localities where war is raging or threatened. The nations have renounced war, and yet they are furnishing the facilities of war to factions and countries engaged in strife. This is not only a mockery, but is playing with fire, for some of the collisions now developing may involve the United States itself in war. If the world has any common sense left it will combine to discourage the scrimmages that grow into great wars. Congress should make it possible for the United States to join other nations in this precaution against world calamity.

STRENGTHEN THE NAVY!

Neglect of the United States Navy is brought again to public attention by the war games between the "Black" and "Blue" forces in the Pacific Ocean. At the conclusion of the war games naval officials are not convinced that the United States is fully protected. Notable weaknesses in the Navy were emphasized. The fleet was unable to demonstrate that the United States is safe from attack.

So far as the personnel of the Navy is concerned, it is efficient and well trained. It is true that American naval craft are undermanned, but the great need is for modern ships. Many of the vessels on which the United States must rely for defense are obsolete almost to the point of uselessness. In combat with up-to-date vessels they would prove "floating coffins." The war games emphasize the urgent need for the replacement of obsolete ships with modern vessels capable of standing up against similar ships in other navies.

One officer estimates that the United States Navy is inferior to the navies of Great Britain and Japan, and that it may not even equal the French navy in fighting strength. It is certain that the American fleet in its present condition does not measure up to the Japanese navy. In spite of the grave threat of Japan against the peace of the world, Congress seems content to allow the United States Navy to sink into a position of hopeless inferiority to that of the Oriental power. This situation is enough to arouse public anxiety, even though it does not seem to carry any warning to Capitol Hill.

The war games brought out a special weakness in destroyers. Nearly all the American destroyers were built during or just after the war, and are, therefore, beyond the age of efficient fighting ships. In spite of that fact, the United States has only 72 destroyers in full commission, compared with 80 for Japan and 75 for Great Britain. In addition Japan has 24 destroyer leaders, Great Britain, 10, and the United States, none. The urgent need for replacement of these out-moded vessels is apparent, even to laymen who know little of the disabilities encountered by obsolete naval craft.

A total of $53,345,000 is allotted to naval construction and repairs in the appropriations bill reported to the House yesterday. This is a slight increase over the amount available this year, but it does not contemplate building the Navy up to treaty strength. It means a continuation of the policy of lagging behind, in the vain hope that other nations may some day be willing to reduce their navies to a proper relative strength. In such a critical period as that which now confronts the world this policy is mere folly.

It is time for Congress to face the fact that the Navy is not in a position to defend American commerce on the high seas or to guarantee protection to American territory. The policy of letting things drift can no longer be tolerated. The world has before it an example of how peace treaties are trampled into the mire when grasping nations acquire the power to enforce their demands. The only safe course for America to take is the construction of a Navy that will be able to afford protection against all potential enemies.

EXPERTS ON LAUGHTER.

The business of making the public laugh has reached large proportions. This modern career offers opportunity to gain substantial fortunes by those who know what the masses will consider funny. The salaries of broadcasting humorists now far exceed those of grand opera stars, and they not only receive big pay themselves, but substantial sums are paid to their collaborating writers. There is the offsetting disadvantage that a joke which could be used for months in a play is good for only one radio performance.

These modern jokesmiths are serious students of the psychology of laughter, who scientifically go about the business of tickling the risibility of their audiences. The gagman knows that incongruity is a great source of mirth. A chicken in a barnyard is seldom funny, but if it enters the dining room during a formal banquet it causes shrieks of laughter. Another source of humor is found in the feeling of superiority that people experience when they anticipate a joke before it is actually sprung. Then there is humor which consists of a narrow escape from harm or tragedy. Being run over, or falling and breaking a leg, does not make people laugh, but a close shave from which the victim emerges with his dignity ruffled is often funny. All these things the gagman knows and manipulates in making his comedy.

The old idea that merriment is trifling and unworthy of serious men has given way to the knowledge that a sense of humor may often enable a man to rise above his troubles. "Tell me what you laugh at and I'll tell you your mental age," said Prof. Gaum, of Rutgers College. A sense of humor is a sense of proportion. Laughter at one's self is a test of character. The gagman does not often dare to use this reputed type of humor and turn the laugh on his audience, as Aristophanes did, but his strides have taken him far from the old slapstick comedy, so time may even carry him into this range of drollery.

Just to keep the record straight, President Hoover tells Congress what it can do before March 4; and Congress will keep the record straight by not doing it.

"When in trouble, start a foreign war." This rule of monarchies may prove to be self-starting for the U. S. if Japan persists.

Munitions makers are doing their best to blow little scraps into big wars.

NATURE NOTES

From the Boston Transcript.

"How far can a flea jump; also, how far can a frog hop?" The question was asked by a resident of Sand Springs, Okla., in a letter addressed to the Interior Department at Washington. If the Government was to be asked for such information what more appropriate than that the request should come from a place named Sand Springs? Fleas, as is well known, have a predilection for sand. Springs suggest the presence of frogs.

The Washington authorities were assured that their assistance was not invoked "for any sporting reason whatever." It was thus intimated that Sand Springs was not arranging a hurdle race between the flea and the frog. But the flea circus is a business, and fleas are trained in circus acts. Information looking to the establishment of the first great and only combined flea and frog circus could not, therefore, be properly ascribed to a sporting reason. There may be a new amusement industry in the making.

However that may be, the Government furnished the information requested. The Bureau of Fisheries in the Department of Commerce was asked to supply the information concerning the frog record for the hop, skip and jump. The Bureau of Entomology in the Department of Agriculture considered the abilities of the flea. Now the Sand Springs seeker for information knows that a frog can hop five or six feet, and a flea can jump thirteen inches horizontally, and seven and three-fourths inches vertically.

There are times when the public is given to sweeping criticism of the activities of bureaus and boards in the National Capital. It is sometimes said that more people are employed than are needed. But it is apparent that governmental agencies which contemplate the country with such microscopic thoroughness as to include the habits of the flea must require a large number of employes. Here is a stinging reminder of the cost of economy. If Government pay rolls are to be greatly curtailed, how are freeborn American citizens to secure information concerning the insect world? How are they to find out about any one of the 200 species of the genus rana? Where will be the Government expert able to answer when somebody inquires how a tree toad climbs a tree? To whom shall the seeker for knowledge apply when he wants to know what makes the hornpout pout?

If President Roosevelt is to be given wide powers in reorganizing the Government, let him consider carefully proposals that would interfere with the proper functioning of Uncle Sam's Questions and Answers Department. Had economy already ended its activities, we might have been forced to learn from painful experience just how far a flea can jump.

Bon Voyage!

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

A FATHER BEGS OFF.

When ten years old runs fifty-two,
The elder has a fearful task
To gather strength enough to do
The things the younger thinks to ask,
And sometimes fifty-two cries:
"Quit,
I'll have to stop and rest a bit!"

I don't admit I'm growing old,
Or on the downward slope to death!
I just don't like it when it's cold
And running seems to take my breath.
I'm not so speedy in a race,
But I can keep a moderate pace.

I'm fonder of my easy chair
Than years ago I used to be,
The silver's crept into my hair
As any one can plainly see.
Books now my keen attention hold,
But not because I'm getting old.

I like the pageantry and pomp
Of martial games the youngsters play,
But I don't march or run or romp
With the same zest of yesterday.
Much that the youngsters like to do
Should not be tried at fifty-two.

It Costs Nothing to Quit Trading if You Have Been Trading Dimes for Dimes.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN a foreign country goes off the gold standard—that is, quits redeeming its paper money with gold—its currency loses value as compared with ours, but continues to buy as much as ever at home.

What is the result? Well, suppose this foreign country's money is worth only a fourth as much as ours.

If the labor and material in a pair of American-made shoes cost $4, the same labor and material used in making a pair of shoes in this foreign country cost only $1.

What happens then? The foreign-made shoes are shipped to America. Despite the cost of shipping and the import tax, they are offered for sale below the American cost of manufacture. And American shoemakers lose their jobs.

But that isn't all. These foreign-made shoes are sent to all the markets of the world, where they are sold cheaper than American shoes, and America loses her foreign market.

What can be done about it? So far as the world markets are concerned, nothing can be done about it so long as America uses gold-standard money and other countries use cheap money.

But America can protect the home market by refusing to admit manufactured articles that sell below the American cost of manufacture.

But, you say, that would destroy our foreign commerce—since we must, in the long run, buy as much as we sell.

Well, what is the purpose and benefit of foreign commerce? What would you think of a baker who said to his competitor: "You buy all of my pies and I will buy all of yours and we shall get rich."

Buying is done by individuals, not by nations. Suppose one group of Americans sells a million dollars' worth of chemicals in France while another group buys a million dollars' worth of chemicals from Frenchmen. Who profits except the freight carriers?

All modern nations are manufacturing nations. What is gained if they sell to one another the same kind of articles they buy from one another?

Foreign commerce is justified only when a nation sells its surplus products and buys the things it doesn't produce.

Let America buy in foreign lands every desirable commodity not produced at home. But let her refuse to admit a single cheaply-made article that can undersell similar articles made in America and thus close American factories.

Within these limits, foreign trade is sane and profitable. On any other basis, it is treason to America or mere dollar-swopping.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Two Jobs Undone.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Congress has spent the bulk of this short session talking about panaceas. Calm judgment there has been on some occasions, and there are those among its members who have subscribed to none of these cure-alls, insisting from the start that all that could be done in the brief time allotted was to make an honest effort to economize and to bring the budget into some semblance of balance. But they have been in the minority and their counsel has been ignored.

There have been other reasons than limited time behind this, to be sure. There has been a lack of firm leadership and a hesitation about doing anything definite before the Democrats take the reins. But not even that can excuse Congress for failure to attempt those two basic jobs—economy and a balanced budget.

Detroit's Importance.

Brooklyn Eagle.

About one dollar in thirty-three of all the value imparted to material by manufacture in this country in 1929 was supplied by Detroit; about one of every fifteen such dollars by Michigan. Without knowing the State's or the city's exact present share of the Union's manufacturing activity, one may realize that the temporary suspension of banking activity in Michigan by the governor's decree affects a large section of the business of the country.

Fundamental Fact Remains.

Toledo Blade.

And at the end of all the talk, the pulling and hauling in the name of farm relief, the simple fact remains that it takes jack to lift the mortgage.

Chagrin.

Dayton News.

A friend grew excited when he read the headline, "Senators favor 6 per cent" until he discovered it referred to interest and not beer.

Evidently Not.

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Adolph Hitler renounces his salary of $11,400 a year because he has other means of support. Hitler does not belong to the United States Congress.

In Midst of Friends.

Lexington Herald.

If the technocrats continue to fight among themselves the thing we Democrats ought to do is to take 'em into the party where they will feel at home.

Posterity's Burden.

Cass Lake (Minn.) Times.

It becomes a question as to whether the English boy, the French boy, the German boy or the Italian boy, who had nothing to do with starting the great World War, must pay the bill for its prosecution, or whether the American boy, unborn and innocent of the start of the catastrophe, must foot the bill.

Mutilating Farm Relief.

Minneapolis Journal.

Striking out provisions for acreage reduction and for defining parity between farm crop prices and other prices, the Senate Committee on Agriculture cut the very heart out of the domestic allotment bill.

Enacted into law in the form in which it has been recommended to the Senate, the domestic allotment act would not only fail of its primary purpose, but also would become just another political football.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Good Thrashing Useful in Case of Bumptious Youngsters Who Resist Discipline.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The schools seek to elevate and refine the child. Education is secondary to general preparation for life. Nothing must be done that will in any way harden or brutalize the child. To this end corporal punishment has been vociferously banished from the schools. Punitive measures were transferred from the pupil to the teacher. If, in an unguarded moment, the sorely tried teacher gave the pupil a much-needed slap, it was the teacher who in the end was punished by reproof, by fines, by injurious ratings. So well known is this condition that parents come into the school and threaten to "take the teacher's job away."

Prison wardens criticize the schools, social workers deplore the rising tide of crime and the lowering of the age of youthful criminals, sweet ladies urge love as a means of ruling the rising generation. Then a horrible murder is committed by a youth of 15. No two agree on the cause of such dreadful deeds. No one rises up and says that the boy who is taught to defy his teacher, who never gets a good old-fashioned thrashing, who flouts with impunity all rule and order, is a boy who has suffered many times for a good thrashing. Such an awful thing as deserved corporal punishment, well given, will "brutalize" the child. Corporal punishment has been banished from the schools for years and years. Youthful crime has increased for years and years. Murder is not infrequent. Youthful slayers are not uncommon, and still the cry goes on: "No corporal punishment in the schools; do not brutalize the child."

A tingling skin is a good crime deterrent; not the only one, not an infallible one, but a good one that goes some distance in prevention. Youth is drawn into crime by a cable of many strands. One strand is the lawlessness encouraged by prohibition of corporal punishment in the schools. Why not cut that strand and so weaken the cable by that much?

A TEACHER.

New York City.

Tired of Internationalists and Pacifists—Stands for America, Right or Wrong.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is unnecessary to go beyond the history of our own country to realize that internationalism is not patriotism; and at many times has worked to our disadvantage. Gen. Washington, writing to C. C. Pinckney on July 8, 1796, said:

"It is a fact too notorious to be denied, that the greatest embarrassments under which the administration of this Government labors, proceed from the counteraction of people among ourselves, who are more disposed to promote the views of another nation than to establish national character of their own."

This was at a time, not unlike the present, when war debts and tariffs were among our pressing international problems.

Having spent considerable time in Europe and having met many men of all ranks, I know that their idea of internationalism is to have all other countries, particularly the United States, accept their national brand. It is only in America or among Americans living abroad on American money that internationalism means the sacrificing of their country's best interests.

I have never heard a European proclaim publicly in a cafe that he or she was ashamed of his or her country. But, unfortunately, I have heard Americans do this.

I am tired of cancellationists. I am tired of pacifists. I am tired of internationalists. I am tired of disarmament conferences. I am an American, and for the United States, right or wrong.

GUY SCOULER.

Proposes Banishment to Penal Colony of Nondeportable Enemies of Government.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In your editorial on the subject "Mr. Roosevelt's Escape," you urge the deportation of Communists and all criminal aliens, and comment on the fact that the would-be assassin of Mr. Roosevelt is a naturalized citizen and therefore can not be deported to the land of his birth, and that nests of anarchists and Communists should be broken up and ringleaders put in prison or deported.

It seems to me that the time has come when this country needs a penal colony located on some beautiful fertile islands in the Pacific, where such murderers, and those who advise force in the overturning of our Government and who can not be deported, can be sent for life.

There is no punishment more severe than banishment, but it is believed that the punishment suggested is fully warranted and also that it is the only remedy now available that can properly deal with the situation.

Suggests That People Abandon Custom of Shaking Hands With the President.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: May I appeal to the people of the United States, through the columns of your paper, to start a movement to abolish the custom of shaking hands with the President of the United States? The nerves and strength of the Presidents and their wives are exhausted by shaking hands with thousands and thousands of people. It is the duty of the people to save the President from physical and nervous exhaustion so that he can give his time and strength to the important problems of government.

Stock Losses Open Week; Declines Flatten at Close

Lean Earnings Blamed as Sales Volume Mounts to 858,600 Shares.

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Security markets skidded again today. Stocks experienced most of their decline in the morning, tending to flatten out later. However, sufficient support for a rally was lacking and final prices were around the lows, with net losses in active issues ranging from fractions to about three points. Volume amounted to only 858,600 shares.

The dollar hardened appreciably in foreign exchange transactions. A few European gold currencies which had recently been giving our monetary unit a buffetting showed occasional losses, a reflection, no doubt, of covering by speculators who had accumulated profits in the short side.

Generally speaking, stock offerings fell on a thin market, though a few issues were pressed for sale in larger volume. One of these was American Can which tumbled nearly 4 points, recovering a quarter of its loss. Selling was attributed to speculative disappointment over the company's 1932 earnings statement, disclosing per share net that fell short of the dividend requirement. Consolidated Gas, which netted $4.07 a common share last year against $4.94 in 1931, steadied when the figures came out.

Passage of the prohibition repeal resolution by the House was received quietly. "Wet" stocks were up a little at one time, but showed no exuberance and eventually fell back. National Distillers retained only a fraction of a 3-point rise. Crown Cork and United States Industrial Alcohol finished slightly lower; so did Owens-Illinois Glass.

A few rails softened sufficiently to bring a point reaction in that group's averages. Union Pacific, off more than 2; Pennsylvania and Santa Fe, down 1 or so, and a number of smaller declines elsewhere put carriers in line with the day's trend. Such representative industrials as U. S. Steel, Du Pont, Union Carbide, Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Motors, Case, Harvester and National Biscuit sagged fractions to a point. Allied Chemical and American Tobacco "B" lost 2. Westinghouse, quoted "ex" the radio stock dividend, was fairly steady. North American and Public Service of New Jersey dipped more than a point.

Speculation in silver futures obviously reflected hopes that the metal may get help from some of the remonetization schemes now in the air. White metal futures traded briskly and bar silver jumped ¾ cent, to 27 cents an ounce. Cotton enjoyed a rally based on senatorial approval of the relief bill, but met realizing. Corn and wheat were little changed by closing time.

Declines	352	153
Unchanged	129	127

Stocks.

Losses were renewed. Bottom records for the year marked trading. Earning disappointments were blamed. The sales turnover increased to 858,600 shares.

Bonds.

United States loans led bonds in a ragged retreat. The average price for the list was 67.5, or six-tenths of a point down. The turnover was $14,574,000.

Curb.

Prices sagged gently from fractions to two points. Utilities bore the brunt of liquidation. The sales volume declined to 100,000 shares.

Wheat.

Internal advances were lost in profit-taking. Wheat, however, maintained firmness throughout the day on damage to the winter crop. Corn and oats were up. May wheat sold at 47¾ to 47½ cents.

Cotton.

Active buying pushed cotton prices higher, but reactions followed and the market closed 3 points down to 2 points up. May sold at 6.17. Liverpool prices advanced under buying.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading on the stock exchange was moderately active today. The feature of the session was the renewed demand for gold mining shares for South African account. British issues were lightly supported and foreign shares passed under the lead of Far Eastern issues on the latest news from those points. Transatlantic issues were easy and the closing was irregular.

Paris—An irregular tone prevailed on the bourse and prices were heavy. Trading was narrow awaiting the settlement of the French budgetary problems. The close was irregular.

Berlin—Prices improved on the boerse today and the closing was steady.

CURB MARKET SAGS SLIGHTLY IN SELLING

Losses Ranged to 2 Points as Sales Fall Off to 100,000 Shares.

New York, Feb. 2 (A.P.).—The curb market sagged gently today, leading shares losing from fractions to more than 2 points. Transfers totaled 100,000 shares against 110,000 Friday.

The utilities bore the brunt of what little liquidation appeared, motivating influences were little changed from last week, when moderate selling was also in evidence, which was based on indications that utility company earnings have decreased along with the earnings of other companies.

Electric Bond & Share, Cities Service, American Superpower, Niagara Hudson Power and United Light & Power A were fractionally lower. American Gas & Electric and the 6 per cent preferred stock of Electric Bond & Share dipped more than 2 points.

Standard of Indiana, which had fairly been steady in recent trading despite scattered liquidation, eased a point on the day. Other Standard issues were a shade lower. Gulf was steady and Humble gained a fraction.

The Ford shares were moderately active, Ford of Canada "A," losing a fraction, while Ford, Ltd., was up slightly. Aluminum lost nearly a point. Swift Internacional lost more than 1, while Swift & Co. was down a little. Stutz lost nearly 2. Cord was fractionally lower. Deere was steady.

Newmont Mining dipped about a point. The specialties were quietly traded, with Great Atlantic & Pacific losing 2 points on an odd-lot transaction.

World Stocks of Raw Goods Reduced 5.8 Per Cent in '32

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Manufacturers and raw material producers the world over succeeded in denting huge surpluses of raw material and finished goods in 1932, as compared to 1931, analysis of statistics in the United States survey of current business indicates.

World stocks of raw goods were reduced about 5.8 per cent, the statistics show, while United States stocks of raw goods were cut 6.7 per cent and United States stocks of finished goods 11 per cent.

Even so, stocks of raw commodities both in the world and in the United States are still well above 1929 levels, and the constant pressure of these stocks, it is held, is a major factor in the persistent decline in commodity prices.

When the comparison is made with 1924, a year of comparatively normal business, world raw material stocks are found to be 145 per cent higher in 1932 than in 1924, while United States raw material stocks are about 29 per cent higher. Compared with 1929, world raw stocks are now 39 per cent higher, while United States raw stocks are 5 per cent higher.

The size of the stocks becomes even more impressive, it is pointed out, when it is considered that they are being consumed much more slowly than in previous years.

The following shows actual world stocks of several principal raw materials as of December in 1929 and 1932:

1929—Wheat, 583,000,000 bushels; silver, 1,356,000 ounces; sugar, 5,200,000 tons; cotton, 7,900,000 bales; rubber, 371,000 long tons; tin, 25,000 long tons; coffee, 21,000,000 bags.

1932—Wheat, 580,000,000 bushels; silver, 7,000,000 ounces; sugar, 8,400,000 tons; cotton, 11,200,000 bales; rubber, 600,000 long tons; tin, 46,000 long tons; coffee, 29,000,000 bags.

On the basis of the average of 1923-25 as 100, world stocks of raw materials now stand at about 260. They were 276 in December, 1931; 187 in December, 1929, and 106 in December, 1924.

In the United States raw stocks stand today at about 195, as compared to 209 in December, 1931; 186 in December, 1929, and 138 in December, 1924.

In the United States stocks of finished goods stand today at 96, compared with 108 in December, 1931; 119 in December, 1929, and 101 in December, 1924.

RALLIES NEAR CLOSE FAIL TO LIFT BONDS

New Lows Made as Sales Volume Increases to $14,574,000.

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Led by United States Government issues, the bond market staged a rather ragged retreat today with casualties numerous in all categories.

The average for 60 domestic corporate loans dropped six-tenths of a point to a new 1933 low at 67.5, and sales totaled $14,574,000, par value, which was next to the largest day's business of the year. Transactions in the Government section accounted for around $5,000,000 of the aggregate and several of the foreign groups developed activity on the decline.

While weakness was especially noticeable in the Federals, and in German and Japanese obligations, domestic corporation maturities generally were off from 1 to 4 or more points, although trading in the last department was comparatively quiet.

The relapse of the Federals was blamed partly on the increase of one-eighth of 1 per cent in the dealers' buying rate for bankers' acceptances and fears of further tighter money rates. The hardening of acceptances was said to reflect the increased supply due to efforts of some out-of-town banks to build up their cash. Direct institutional selling of Government bonds, as a "liquidizing" operation was also reported.

Although there were some moderate rallies near the close, the unsupported Federals finished behind minus signs ranging from 5-32ds of a point to 1.3 points. The heaviest trading was in Treasury 3s, 3½s, Liberty 3½s and Fourth 4¼s.

Few of the rails, utilities and industrials of domestic origin were able to withstand the selling barrage. Loans of Baltimore & Ohio were off 1 to 3 points notwithstanding the road's announcement that its refunding plan for its March 1 maturity had been declared operative.

Even the best utilities and industrials relaxed fractionally to a point or more. United Drug 5s were conspicuously heavy, losing 7¼ points. Havana Electric 5½s, however, gained around 4 points, and Studebaker 6s, Owens Glass 5s and Western Electric 5s firmed.

Minneapolis, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—FLOUR—Unchanged; in carload lots, family patents, quoted 3.90@4.05 per barrel in 98-pound cotton sacks; shipments, 19,073.

BRAN—10.00@10.50.

STEEL MARKETS.

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Steel prices per 100 pounds f. o. b. Pittsburgh:

Blue annealed sheets, hot rolled, 160@170; galvanized sheets, 250@265; black sheets, hot rolled, 200@210; steel bars, 160.

Bank Acceptance Rates Increased 1-8 Per Cent

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—The lead taken last week by some money dealers was followed today by a blanket increase in interest rates on bankers' acceptances.

The new rates represent a gain of ⅛ per cent. The scale is ⅝ to ½ per cent for 30, 60 and 90 day maturities, ¾ to ⅝ per cent for 120 days, and 1⅛ per cent for 150 and 180 day maturities.

Bankers' acceptances are two-name bills, indorsed by a bank, and are eligible as collateral for loans from the Federal Reserve, the quotations represent discounts under face amount of such bills. In explaining the advance, dealers said that recent reductions had been too sharp, the change representing a natural readjustment upward.

B. & O. Plan to Pay Bonds Is Operative

Holders of Issue to Get Half in Cash and Half in Bonds.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co., through George M. Shriver, senior vice president, announces that it has, with the approval of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, declared the plan operative for meeting the maturity of its 20-year 4½ per cent convertible gold bonds, due March 1, 1933.

Under this plan the company will pay holders of the bonds 50 per cent of the principal amount with accrued interest in cash, and deliver for the remaining 50 per cent a like principal amount of its 5 per cent refunding and general mortgage bonds, Series F, due March 1, 1996.

Holders of more than 90 per cent of the $63,250,000 principal amount of such bonds outstanding have accepted the plan proposed by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. and the company believes that under the circumstances the remaining bonds will be exchanged when the plan is put into effect. The announcement states that because the money to be advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is available only for the payment of 50 per cent in cash to assenting bondholders, the railroad company is not in a position to offer any other terms to bondholders who have not yet assented to the plan.

BUYING AIDS COTTON; REACTIONS FOLLOW

May Is Sold at 6.17, With Prices 3 Points Down to 2 Points Up.

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Active buying, stimulated by the progress of the cotton relief bill, was supplied on advance of about 10 to 20 points in cotton early today, and reactions followed under realizing or liquidation which appeared to be influenced by weakness in the stock market.

May contracts after selling up to 6.29, broke to 6.17 in the late trading and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady net 3 points lower to 2 points higher.

Early buying was more general than for some time, with the opening very steady, 8 to 12 points higher in response to the passage of the Smith cotton bill by the Senate after the close on Saturday.

March Contracts Recover.

March contracts sold up to 6.14, and July to 6.41, making recoveries of 36 to 41 points from low levels touched on the decline of last Tuesday, with every indication of a broadening commission house interest. There was also considerable trade buying and buying through houses with Liverpool and Japanese connections.

The demand was supplied by realizing and scattered selling which appeared to be partly for Southern account.

Prices eased in the late trading in sympathy with the action of the stock market. March broke to 6.02 and July 6.28 in the late trading. Closing quotations were at the lows.

Liverpool cables attributed the advance there to local and outside buying on the passage of the cotton relief bill and reported a fair inquiry for cotton cloth from India, but said the actual turnover was unimproved.

The official estimate of the Indian crop placing the yield at 4,425,000 bales of 400 pounds against 4,002,000 last year was 200,000 bales above the December forecast, but was said to be still well below recent private estimates. The New York Cotton Exchange service reported that consumption of all growths in Japan for January totaled 230,000 bales, against 226,000 in December and 216,000 in January last year. Exports today, 22,115, making 5,507,437 so far this season. Port receipts, 20,093. United States port stocks, 4,843,851.

WHEAT VALUES RISE; CUT IN PROFIT SALES

Gains Wiped Out and Slight Loss Recorded; Corn and Oats Up.

Chicago, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—For a brief interval, grain values ran upward today following prohibition repeal action at Washington, but profit-taking sales quickly wiped out price gains.

Belief expressed by crop experts that injury to comestic winter wheat was irreparable, and had been done on a big scale, with the damage area extending, gave an undertone of strength to wheat throughout the day. Weakness of securities was almost ignored.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as Saturday's finish to ¼ lower; corn, unchanged to ⅛ higher; oats, a shade to ⅛ up, and provisions varying from 7 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

Cold Menaces Crop.

Cold wave predictions for the United States winter wheat belt served to increase uneasiness regarding crop prospects. Bulls contended that with persistent drought Southwest and other adverse conditions, there was an undeniable major menace to the crop. One summary said the area of serious damage now included a large part of Nebraska, the most important acreage in Kansas, and very considerable sections of Oklahoma and northern Texas.

Friends of higher prices for wheat had to battle against the handicap of recurrent selling pressure that has frequently of late developed on market upturns, and has been generally ascribed to Government-financed sources. Notice was also taken of a large increase of the amount of wheat on ocean passage, both as compared with last week and a year ago. On the other hand, a decrease of 2,121,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply put the total at 147,631,000 against 202,590,000 at this time last year.

Much enlarged receipts of corn in Chicago dampened buying enthusiasm for corn and oats. New offerings of corn to arrive, however, were smaller than last week.

Provisions duplicated irregularity of hog values.

ROAD VOTED TO LINK BRIDGE AND HIGHWAY

House Passes Measure to Construct Passage in Fort Myer Area.

Legislation authorizing a connecting link between Arlington Memorial Bridge and Lee boulevard, along the southerly border of Fort Myer, was passed by the House yesterday and sent to the White House for signature.

Representative Howard W. Smith (Democrat), Virginia, who sponsored the measure in the House, said last night that Virginia now has about $180,000 available to complete construction of the link. The measure already has passed the Senate.

The Secretary of War would be authorized to convey to Arlington County, Va., a tract of land about 100 feet wide, through the Fort Myer reservation, as a right of way. A little more than a mile in distance, the proposed highway would link the northeasterly terminus of Lee boulevard with the westerly approach to the bridge.

It would connect with about a half mile of roadway authorized by a $40,000 appropriation in the independent offices bill, as an approach to the span.

The $180,000 Virginia appropriation has been allocated to Arlington County, but will revert back to the State if not used before June 30.

A second section of the bill conveys another right of way now existing, 60 feet in width. It was said that the War Department, no longer wishing to maintain this strip, is willing to transfer jurisdiction to Arlington County.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With Nelson B. Bell's "Stooge"

ANOTHER of Nelson B. Bell's "stooges," one Dorothea Lewis, realizing the difficulties which beset even an earnest substitute in endeavoring to fill a column, comes through handsomely with some thoughts on Paul Muni, star of "Counsellor at Law," the next attraction at the National. Miss Lewis interviewed Mr. Muni a few months back and still remembers plenty about him from which I quote:

"Paul Muni is a man of ideas about the theater...but only about his part in it. He says he doesn't understand the theater and it fascinates him. He thinks he has played George Simon in "Counsellor at Law" too many times. He declares four months is the ideal playing time for any one role. That, he says, gives an actor long enough to get into a role, know it as it is written and then begin to create and continue to build the character. After that the actor must fight against growing mechanical. George Simon is one role which can not be played mechanically, it is too human, too much a thing of moods and thoughts. Paul Muni doesn't play it mechanically even with a season or so behind him.

"Paul Muni has one idea though, which he faithfully observes. That is that he should never play the same type role twice and should never play himself. He likes the movies and he doesn't but he'll make more."

All of which indicates that Washington will find much of interest to observe in this actor beginning next week.

Irene Dunne, whose work in "Cimarron" and "Back Street" is still fresh in the minds of Capital moviegoers, returns to the screen at RKO-Keith's next week in "No Other Woman." A story of love for her child after early poverty and then riches, the play is said to give Miss Dunne wide range for emotional work for which she is famous. She will be supported by Charles Bickford, Eric Linden, and Gwili Andre.

And down on Ninth street, Rodney Collier, manager of the Rialto, reports that many former "doughboys" are dropping in for plenty of chuckles over the adventures of Lee Tracy in "Private Jones." The war is still more than a memory to many former soldiers and they are getting a big kick out of Tracy's potato-peeling.

"A Symphony in Two Flats," with Ivor Novellow, English star, is the feature of a program of pictures and variety acts to be offered tonight at the Wardman Park Hotel by the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. Phil Lampkin, Fox musical director, will play a trumpet solo; Serge Abagoff, sword dancer from the Troika, will perform; the Club Michel will send Charlie Wright, accordionist, and two acts will be furnished by the Madrillon Restaurant.

Three tributes, well worth repeating, have reached this desk in connection with the testimonial performance for L. Stoddard Taylor, manager of the Belasco Theater for so many years, to be given Monday night at the National when Paul Muni, in "Counselor at Law," will be the attraction. Here they are:

David Warfield: "I recall Mr. Taylor * * * not at all like a theatrical manager * * * he appeared to me more like a gentleman in the diplomatic service. I feel honored to be invited to participate in this tribute."

DeWolf Hopper: "Stoddard Taylor's friends are so legion I wonder how you can crowd them into a single performance. Certainly I will help and I know of nobody in the theater world of today more worthy for this honor."

William Faversham: "So many of my successes in the theater are associated with the Belasco Theater and Stoddard Taylor I am delighted to take part in this expression of gratitude. I want to say that he has been one of the best public spirits your city of Washington has had during my days."

And I'll second the motion to all three of these.

Those hilarious sounds you heard while walking through the alley in the rear of the Fox Theater yesterday afternoon came from a select group invited to witness a preview of "She Done Him Wrong," which will shortly play one of the Loew houses here. Mae West is the star and judging from the laughter which floated across the alley and into my fifth floor sanctum, Mae must have been strutting her stuff for the edification of the press . . . and how.

Master Franklyn W. (Steve to you) Off-foot, the office commentator, arises to remark that if the inaugural committee really wants the grandstand patrons to enjoy themselves, it should put on an old-fashioned chariot race on the avenue.

How am I doin'?

COLUMBIA

"WHISTLING IN THE DARK," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of a story by Laurence Gross and Edward Childs Carpenter; featuring Ernest Truex, Una Merkel, Edward Arnold, John Miljan, and Johnny Hines. Directed by Elliott Nugent. Reviewed Monday evening by W. A. Whitney.

Suppose you were a noted author of murder mysteries, and suppose you fell in with an underworld gang and, to save your life and that of your fiancee, you had to write the perfect murder, just what would you do?

That is the problem which confronts Ernest Truax in the role of Wallace Porter, noted novelist. To be sure, he writes what would apparently work out that way, and an ingenious theme it is. But that is not all he does. He dickers around with telephone wires and a radio set and puts the quietus on the "perfect murder."

"Whistling in the Dark" is a right cleverly written and developed comedy and one the less about which is known the greater the enjoyment. With Mr. Truax in the leading role and opposite him Una Merkel, with Washington's old friend, Edward Arnold; John Miljan, C. Henry Gordon, Johnny Hines, Nat Pendleton and Tene Holtz doing the gangsters out to "get" Joseph Cawthorn, the beer tycoon, the stage is all set for a rousing, lusty comedy.

And that is just what you get. Primarily farce, the picture employs all the tricks of the trade, working into the narrative elements of tragedy, drama, burlesque, and all the rest. To attempt a complete appraisal of all the elements of this picture would take more space than is available, but this can be said without fear of contradiction: That, save for a short space in the middle, where it becomes necessary to kill a certain amount of time, "Whistling in the Dark" speeds along in an unusual manner and keeps the audience sitting on the edge of the seat, and, paradoxically as it may seem, shaking with laughter all the while.

Even the usually excruciating Harry Langdon is hard pressed in his present vehicle, "The Hitch Hiker," to compete with the feature attraction in mirth-provoking propensities. Leo Donnelly dishes up another batch of "Broadway Gossip," revealing intimate views of Mary Nolan, Lillian Walker, "One-Eye" Connelly, Mme. Sylvia, and taxi dancers. A release of Paramount News, with "before-and-after" views of the attempted assassination of President-elect Roosevelt, completes the line-up.

SO THIS IS RENO

Letters of a Capital Society Divorcee to Her Mother

Dearest Mother: I just got your letter tonight telling me how interested you are in my friend, Mrs. Oliver; so I will have to tell you the sequel about her. Not having heard from her, I telephoned to the friend's house whose address she had given us in her telegram, and her friend said, "Oh, no; she didn't stay at all, she went back to New York almost on the next train." Can you believe it? Of course, there is something back of such indecision that she never told us. I suppose I will never see her again now as she left no address with the San Francisco friend, and she told me frankly out here that she was not giving us her real name. I tried to get it from the manager of the hotel, but each guest registers on a saparate page, and they are under lock and key. He said the reason for such secrecy was that lots of people don't want it known they are here, and yet they have to register under their full and correct names to make it legal for their divorces. She was one of the most sparkling and alive people I have ever seen. I will always hope to run into her somewhere. I wrote to her to San Francisco, but the letter was returned as she had left no forwarding address.

This afternoon I had a little party for the literary faction. I made rye cocktails—$6 for a half gallon. It is the first time I have done any Reno entertaining, and we had a gay and delightful hour. If only Helen Oliver had been here. How she would have loved it. I believe dullness drove her away. ELIZABETH.

ELDER BOETTCHER SIGNS $65,000 CHECK

Money Presumably Is to Win Son's Release; Acts Without Aid of Police.

Denver, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—A decision of Claude K. Boettcher, wealthy father of the kidnaped Charles Boettcher 2d, to act independently of police, was climaxed today by his withdrawal of $65,000 from a Denver bank, presumably for ransom and reward payments.

Authorities said they knew nothing of the transaction, but an employe of the Boettcher-Newton Co., of which the missing man was a partner, said three checks totaling $65,000, and signed by Boettcher, had passed through a bank during the morning.

He assumed the $60,000 was for ransom and the $5,000 for a reward the elder Boettcher posted soon after the kidnaping of the young broker by two men the night of February 12.

Summoned into conference by Chief of Police A. T. Clark, C. S. Milliken, city manager of safety, and Mayor G. D. Begole, the elder Boettcher and his attorney, James Grant, informed officials they would not enlarge on Boettcher's previous statement that: "I feel I must and I will act independently if the opportunity is presented."

His decision and refusal to reveal to authorities the contents of notes received from the kidnapers which convinced Boettcher his son was alive and well brought sharp rebukes from Clark and the mayor.

The definite split between the Boettcher family and police preceded Clark's disclosure that he had been unable to connect the killing of Joseph P. Roma, Denver gang leader, with the kidnaping.

Downtown Retail Stores Close 1 P.M. Tomorrow

Downtown retail stores will close at 1 p. m. on Washington's Birthday, as has been the custom for the past several years, according to an announcement made by Edward D. Shaw, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association. The coal merchants also will close their yards and offices half a day on February 22.

The association is now polling its membership to determine what hours will be maintained on inauguration day. The department stores have already indicated their intention to close the entire day, while the coal yards will make deliveries in the morning, but will close at noon to permit their employes to witness the inaugural ceremonies, Mr. Shaw stated.

"THE GREEN PASTURES." Laurence Rivers, Inc., presents a fable by Marc Connelly in 2 acts and 18 scenes, featuring Richard B. Harrison, Charles H. Moore, Doe Doe Green, Daniel L. Haynes, Thomas Russell, Edna M. Harris, James Fuller, Tutt Whitney, Susie Sutton, Alonzo Fenderson, McKinley Reeves, George Randol and scores more, with Hall Johnson Celestial Choir. Play suggested by Roark Bradford's Southern Sketches of "Ol' Man Adam an' His Chillun." Directed by Mr. Connelly. Settings by Robert Edmond Jones. (Second week.)

This Marc Connelly fable enters its second week with no apparent diminishing of interest. It is a powerful and brilliant adaptation of Biblical passages and scenes into everyday life in the Deep South, enacted by a large cast of colored actors and singers.

Richard B. Harrison as de Lawd in the play is the central figure in the action, moving among his people with whom he is not pleased. Other leading roles are those of Doe Doe Green as Gabriel; Daniel L. Haynes as Adam and Hezdrel; Charles H. Moore as Mr. Deshee, the preacher of the gospel; Edna M. Harris as Zeza, the "celestial flapper;" Tutt Whitney and Susie Sutton as Noah and his wife; George Randol as Pharaoh and Alonzo Fenderson as Moses.

The play opens with Mr. Deshee outlining the story of the Bible to a group of youthful worshipers, and from his explanation of the Good Book, the story becomes the actual workings in heaven as revealed to his audience.

While much in the play has hitherto been purposely overlooked as material for stage entertainment for fear of irreverence, Mr. Connelly has treated his subject and the handling of the various roles with such delicacy that nothing offensive appears and much of it, while amusing in a way, is nevertheless filled with solemnity.

One of the brighter features of the performance is the appearance of Hall Johnson's Celestial Choir under the direction of Ulysses Chambre. This organization weaves in and out of the performance as a background for the movements of the players and to sustain interest between the many scenes of the production.

GAYETY

"CHILE KON-KARNIE-GIRLS." Empire Burlesque attraction, featuring "Conchita, Lola Bartram, Roberts Sisters, Sammy Clark, Bee Keeler, Joy St. Clair, Bimbo Davis and Joe Yule. Reviewed by Bud Hyman.

The most critical burlesque fan should enjoy "Chile Kon-Karnie-Girls," this week's attraction at the Gayety. It has many beautiful scenes where shapely girls parade in costumes pretty though scant. The comedy skits are funny and there is an abundance of dancing that helps round out the show.

Conchita is good. She is young and pretty, and in addition to knowing all the regular burlesque steps (if they may be called such), is a tap dancer of note. Lola Bartram, who possesses beauty and real ability, is perhaps the most capable dancer on the bill. She was well received on each of her appearances, as were the Roberts Sisters, a singing and dancing team.

After several weeks' absence, Bee Keller, the buxom blonde, has returned to the cast. She displayed a brand of dancing, pleasing to the boys down front, and received hearty applause, as did Kay Cassidy.

Vocal numbers by Nora Murry and Sid Gold were well rendered and helped greatly in making the show a success. Bimbo Davis and Joe Yule, the comedians, are unusually funny this week and are ably assisted by Sammy Clark and Sandberg. The chorus shows improvement.

Mr. Gsovski outlined Russia's history from the time of Emperor Alexander II. He said Russia had been engaged in war every 2 out of 3 years for the last two centuries.

HUNDREDS THRONG CHURCH AT RITES FOR CORBETT

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

BREATHLESS BENNY LADIS, his star dimmed by the presence in town of his brother Mushky, is escorting Reds Barry and his New York entourage about the city in these last hours before the Barry-Kennedy fight at Portner's Arena tonight, but Benny is content to bask in the background and the reflected glory of Mushky's reputation.

Mushky, you know, condescended six months ago to take over the active management of Reds Barry, the local heavyweight hope, and when the great transition of Barry from the Mohawk Club to Mushky Jackson occurred, Breathless Benny was the first to tell the world about it and about his brother Mushky, who is the champeen trainer of the world.

At this moment, the management and training of Barry is a sideline occupation for Mushky, who is attached to the stable of Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling. Schmeling has first call on Mushky's services as a trainer and Tony Canzoneri has second call, which ought to prove in a big way that Mushky is considered some pumpkins as a trainer of pugilists. After Schmeling and Canzoneri comes Barry in the affections of Mushky.

Barry Next "Champeen," Says Mushky.

I say that Mushky's interest in Barry is a sideline endeavor at this moment because I have it on Mushky's word, and also Benny's, that Barry is the champeen of the world in 1934, barring accidents, and then Mushky will divorce his other interests to attend to the management of Champeen Barry.

Mushky did not explain exactly how he was going to elevate Barry to the champeenship above the prostrate forms of Jack Sharkey, Max Schmeling, Max Baer, Primo Carnera and Johnny Risko, but he appropriated a good old baseball expression to say that anything can happen and don't be surprised.

There was the little item of Barry's fight with Maxie Rosenbloom last summer at the Laurel arena which somehow this department couldn't dismiss from mind when Mushky started talking of Barry in the champeenship terms. In that bout, Rosenbloom, not even a heavyweight, made Barry look like the veriest novice and it was hard for me to reconcile Mushky's champeenship chatter with the unanimous decision in favor of Rosenbloom.

Mushky Explains Fight With Rosenbloom.

But Mushky had a ready explanation of that battle. Rosenbloom, it seems, according to Mushky, is a light-heavyweight that no heavyweight contender wants any part of, and the fact is that, according to Mushky, Rosenbloom could beat the rank and file of the heavyweights today as easily as drawing on his trunks. Barry could be heavyweight champeen of the world and still not be able to beat Rosenbloom, quoth Mushky. I subscribe to the latter half of that statement.

Breathless Benny, who would be paying the highest income tax in the Capital, if his income were based on space rates for wordage dispensed in favor of Barry, told this department, confidentially, that if there were anything I wanted to know about the big shots in the fight game his brother, Mushky, from New York, would be glad to tell me, and I told Benny that I already knew that his brother, Mushky, knew all the big shots, but thanks for the tip.

If by chance Les Kennedy, the Butte, Mont., boy who has been offered as a sacrifice to the ambitions of Barry tonight at Portner's, steps out of his preordained role and proceeds to plaster Barry's ambitions all over Barry's face, then this department guarantees that a few glances at the face of Breathless Benny will be worth the price of a ringside seat.

Otto Bluege One of 5 To Sign With Reds

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Five players were added today to the roster of those who have agreed to go pennant-hunting with the Cincinnati Reds this year. Terms of the contracts were unrevealed.

The newest signers were Chick Hafey, Otto Bluege, Rollie Hemsley, Blyde Manion and Harry Rice. Negotiations were continued in an attempt to bring Jim Bottomley, formerly of the St. Louis Cardinals, also into line.

Hafey, recovered from the illness that took him out last year, is expected to be the new spark plug of the Reds' batting attack. Bluege, with Columbus, of the American Association, last year, is figured to snatch the third base post with the National League's tail enders.

COCHRAN GAINS LEAD.

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Welker Cochran, world champion, defeated Jay Boneman, 50 to 39, in the second block of their three-cushion billiard exhibition at the Strand tonight and gained a lead of 100 points to 87.

Barry Fights Kennedy at Portner's

Capital Heavy Returns Tonight After Succesess in North.

Redhead Seeks Knockout; Bowen Meets Brown in Six.

IF the joint word of the Jackson boys (nee Ladis), "Mushky" and Benny, can be taken at face value, not only will Reds Barry take the decision from Les Kennedy in their feature bout tonight at Portner's, but he will accomplish his purpose in less than the advertised number of rounds. With both "Mushky" and Benny going full blast, Barry was credited with all ten rounds in the verbal bout fought in various newspaper offices yesterday. Kennedy and Jimmy Erwin failed to get in as much as an "Oh, yeah?"

Both principals concluded training yesterday. The redhead skipped rope a couple of rounds, punctured two light bags and topped it off with a bit of shadow boxing. Kennedy's program virtually was the same. The big boy worked out under Erwin's watchful eye at Portner's.

Kennedy in Fine Shape.

On the eve of his battle with Washington's most promising pugilistic prospect of recent years, Kennedy appeared to be in fine shape, both physically and mentally, and ready for the fight of his life. The big fellow demonstrated to the satisfaction of all his ability to dispense punishment when he stopped Bob Godwin, and Barry will need all the speed and cleverness at his command to keep out of range of Kennedy's devastating punches.

That Barry is confident goes without saying. The Southeast youngster has been trained down to razor edge by Jackson and is particularly anxious to make a good showing before a local audience. Lucrative bouts in other cities await Barry if he comes through against Kennedy.

Whereas Benny Landis predicted the heavyweight crown for the District youth within two years, Brother "Musky" last night was even more enthusiastic over Reds' prospects and calmly announced that his charge will hold the title in another twelve months. But that's all in passing. Reds has to lick Kennedy tonight before he thinks about disturbing Sharkey, Schmelling, Baer, and a few other preliminary boys.

Ray Bowen concluded training for his six-round go with Buster Brown, listed as tonight's semifinal. The winner gets a crack at Joey Goodman's prominent schnozzle.

Other bouts on the card are Roy Manley vs. George Essrick, six rounds; Carey Wright vs. Benny Tootman, four rounds, and Jimmy De Capua vs. Young Fundelin, four rounds.

Fields, Champion, Underdog at 7-10

Young Corbett Choice to Win Welter Title Tomorrow Night.

San Francisco, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—The short-ender in 10-to-7 betting, Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, said today he expected to win his ten-round skirmish with young Corbett, of Fresno, Calif., here Wednesday rather easily.

"After Corbett," he declared, "I'll take Jimmy McLarnin."

The southpaw challenger weighed in at 148 pounds after a sparring session today, setting at rest reports he might have difficulty making the 147-pound weight for the championship bout. Fields is only a few ounces above the limit.

Promoters forecast gate receipts would total $50,000.

BIRKIE BEATS SIMMS.

Cleveland, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Hans Birkie, German heavyweight, now from New York, rallied to win a decision from Eddie Simms, of Cleveland, in the main event of a boxing program tonight.

Simms captured the opening rounds, but soon wilted under Birkie's attack. Birkie weighed 198 and Simms 192.

Nats Have Boasted Many Good Catchers Since 1912, Contest Review Reveals

Naming Star Team Is Dividing Fans Into 2 Generations.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

JUDGING from comments heard along the baseball Rialto with respect to the selection of the two catchers in The Washington Post's baseball contest, it would be "just a breeze" to name the outstanding pair who have performed in Nat livery since Clark Griffith, present president of the club, first came here in 1912. The writer, however, in delving into the past performances, finds that there are at least six who were outstanding at times while several others have been here a long time and have rendered yoeman service.

Entrants are not asked to select what might be termed as strictly an all-star team, as the winner will be the one who matches, or most closely matches, the combination named by President Griffith as the best since he took up the managerial reins here more than 20 years ago. This means that not only averages, but habits and temperaments of the players will be considered, with all around value probably playing an important part in the selection of each player.

Fans Divided Into Two Generations.

From the thousands of selections already filed with The Post, it is noted that the fans seem to be divided into two generations—those who followed the Nats' destinies up until 1924, and hosts of others who first became seriously interested in the national game when Bucky Harris led his team to the Capital's first league pennant and its only world championship. And it is noted that the old-timers have a decided leaning toward the old-time players, with the newer generation apparently passing up many of the stars of the prepennant days.

President Griffith, who is now at the Biloxi training camp mulling his proposed selections over in his mind, probably is just as "sweet" on the old-time stars as he is over those since Bucky Harris' day, so intended entrants should consider all players, rather than those they have personally seen over any given stretch of time.

Take the catchers, for instance. Probably a hundred have come and gone since 1912, but each five or six years has had an outstanding performer at that time. The 1912 staff boasted three stars in Alva, (Rip) Williams, John Henry and Eddie Ainsmith.

Gharrity Appeared In 1916.

Then Eddie Gharrity appeared on the scene in 1916 and two years later Val Picinich crowded into the picture. The latter, by the way, is the only one of the Nat old-timer back-stoppers still seeing major league service, now being a member of the Brooklyn staff.

In 1923, Muddy Ruel appeared upon the scene, while Roy Spencer, who came here in 1929, has made himself a host of admirers. Then there are "Pinky" Hargrave, Bennie Tate and the veteran Hank Severeid, who helped the Nats in their 1925 pennant-winning effort.

As already stated, other features besides averages will be considered by President Griffith in making his selections, but the figures will help some and they are given below:

Chapman and Combs Enter Fold of Yanks

New York, Feb. 20 (U.P.).—Four more members of the New York Yankees sent in their signed contracts today, bringing the total of signed Yanks to 23 and leaving 9 to enter the fold.

Earl Combs and Ben Chapman, regular outfielders, and Ed Wells and Jimmy Deshong, pitchers, returned their inscribed documents.

Chapman and Combs had been classed as holdouts, along with Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. Combs had a good season last year, finishing with a batting average of .342, being topped only by the big guns, Ruth and Gehrig. Chapman just missed the select circle of .300 hitters with a mark of .299 and led the league in base stealing with 38 stolen bases.

ARGENTINE HEAVY WINS.

Paris, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Vicente Parilie, Argentine heavyweight, tonight knocked out the Frenchman, Casimir, in the third round of a ten-round bout.

Horton Smith And Runyan Win Upset

Shute-Golden Beaten, 1 Up, After Battle of 37 Holes.

Hagen-Kirkwood Also Win on Extra Hole in 4-Ball Golf.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Horton Smith, of Oak Park, Ill., and Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., sank two birdie fours to divide thirty-seventh hole honors in quarter finals of the international four ball golf matches here today and eliminated the favored Denny Shute, of Cleveland, and John Golden, of Noroton, Conn., 1 up.

The Shute-Golden upset was the only one of the day, other of the favored teams shooting for first money in the $2,500 purse, advancing to the semifinals.

The other victors of the day were: Walter Hagen, of Detroit, and Joe Kirkwood, of Philadelphia, who, like Smith and Runyan, had to go to the 37th hole to win their match from Tony Manero, of Greenwich, Conn., and Kike Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y.

Armour and Dutra Advance.

Tommy Armour, of Detroit, cowinner of the 1932 tournament, and Olin Dutra, California's golfing flash, who defeated Al Watrous, of Detroit, and Charles Guest, of Deal, N. J., 2 and 1, in the quarter final play.

Bill Mehlhorn, of New York, and Al Espinosa, of Akron, Ohio, who won, 2 and 1, from Henry Ciuci, of Fresh Meadow, N. Y., and John Revolta, of Menominee, Mich.

Armour and Dutra, top seeded pair in pretournament guessing, and Mehlhorn and Espinosa will play it out in the semifinals with a scheduled 36-hole match tomorrow. Hagen and Kirkwood will put their years of experience against that of the younger Smith and Runyan combination.

Vet Jimmy Austin To Coach White Sox

Chicago, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Owner J. Louis Comiskey, of the White Sox, today abandoned his "no coach" experiment and hired James "Jimmy" Austin as a one-man coaching staff.

After the close of last season, Owner Comiskey released Coaches William Cunningham and Johnny Butler and announced players would be called upon to do the necessary coaching along the sidelines when needed. Because of the new faces on the team, however, he changed his mind today by employing Austin.

Austin was a player and coach with the St. Louis Browns for 20 years. He was released by the Browns at the end of the 1932 season and the full coaching task turned over to Allan Sothoron.

Browning Throws Lewis for "Title"

Strangler Loses Claims to Mat Crown in Upset at Garden.

New York, Feb. 20 (U.P.).—Jim Browning, of Boston, tonight seised all claims to the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world from Ed (Strangler) Lewis, of Kentucky, by throwing the Strangler in 57 minutes 50 seconds of their scheduled finish match at Madison Square Garden.

The portly, semibald Lewis, who was recognised as world champion in New York State seven months ago when the State athletic commission declared Jim Londos' title vacated, lost his claims to the title when young Browning pinned him with a combination airplane and leg scissors.

Although Lewis had not been showing well recently, his defeat came as a distinct upset in New York wrestling circles because only a month ago he pinned the ambitious Boston Irishman. Browning weighed 230 pounds and Lewis 238.

JOHNNY JADICK BEATEN.

New Orleans, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Battling Shaw, hard-punching fighter formerly of Laredo, Tex., but now of New Orleans, tonight won a 10-round decision over Johnny Jadick, of Philadelphia, the junior welterweight champion. The fight was close throughout. Shaw weighed 136 and Jadick 130 pounds.

Lefty Gomez Makes Balk

Marriage to June O'Dea Delayed When License Bureau Requests Proof of Age of Musical Comedy Star.

Lefty Gomez and his fiancee, June O'Dea.

New York, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, star left-hander of the New York Yankees, and June O'Dea, Broadway actress, today made their long-planned visit to the marriage license bureau, but failed to get the necessary permission to marry because of Miss O'Dea's age.

In applying for the license she gave her age as 20, and was informed that proof of age was necessary where the applicant is under 21. Her birth certificate is in Philadelphia, she told attendants, and she promised to have a copy by tomorrow morning.

Gomez said they would be married Sunday at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, on West Seventy-first street.

Miss O'Dea's legal name is Helen P. Schwartz. She gave her birthplace as Revere, Mass.

Several times they have announced plans to marry, but her stage appearances forestalled their plans. She recently returned from a tour with a popular musical comedy, "Of Thee I Sing."

SIR MALCOLM BALKED BY OFFICIALS

Beach Called Unsafe; Threaten to Revoke His License.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Terse mandates by racing officials tonight thwarted plans of Sir Malcolm Campbell for taking his giant Bluebird racing car onto the beach tomorrow for test trials preliminary to a proposed assault upon his own world's automobile speed record of 253 miles an hour.

Admittedly irked by the long delays, waiting for a favorable beach, the 48-year-old British driver announced he intended to take his car onto the course for a test run tomorrow, and requested racing officials to set up the necessary timing apparatus to clock his runs.

Sir Malcolm Too Willing to Take Chance.

His plans struck a stone wall, however, when the officials met, decided the beach was not in condition for Campbell to make even a trial run with safety, and told him flatly they would not prepare the course for trials tomorrow.

"Our trouble with this great British sportsman is that he has so much courage he is willing to take a chance with his car and his life—a chance that we have determined he shall not take," C. B. Wingate, president of the Daytona Beach-Volusia County Racing Association said.

Wingate said the beach was too rough for Camp ell to make even a test run tomorrow and that if the driver decided to take his machine onto the beach anyway, use of the course would be denied him.

Contest Facts In Brief

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Baseball Club, will select in The Washington Post of March 19 his all-time, all-star team from among the clubs that represented Washington during the years from 1912 to 1932 inclusive.

The fan who submits the selection that matches or most nearly matches Griffith's selection will be adjudged the winner of the contest.

One man is to be selected for each of the infield and outfield positions with four pitchers and two catchers.

To the winner The Washington Post will award eight box seats to the 1933 opening game between Washington and Philadelphia.

Second place will net four box seats, with third place earning two box seats.

Entrants may use the accompanying coupon for their selections, although the use of the coupon is not necessary for entrance in the contest.

The contest will close March 19.

NATS' GROUP LEAVES FOR BILOXI

3 Players to Entrain Here Today; Drill Due Thursday.

ORDERS have been issued for the Nationals to start heading for the Biloxi training camp, where Manager Joe Cronin will have his batterymen out for the initial 1933 drill bright and early Thursday morning. Ususually Assistant Secretary Billy Smith and Coaches Altrock and Schacht take along quite a gathering of players, but only three are due to start the trip from here this afternoon. They are Pitcher Al Thomas, Bob Cassell and Johnny Kerr.

Catcher Moe Berg is supposed to join the travelers here today, but he has been touring the Orient and Secretary Eddie Eynon has been unable to get in touch with him; in fact, the catcher at this writing appears to be as lost as Charlie Ross, as far as the Nats are concerned, as it is not definitely known that he is even back in the United States.

En route South, Pitchers Al (General) Crowder, Monte Weaver and Luther (Bud) Thomas and Catcher Cliff Bolton will be picked up, while Earl Whitehill is about to leave Hot Springs, where he has been taking a course of baths. Pitchers Walter Stewart, Jack Russell, Bob Burke, Edward Linke, Bob Friedrich and Bill McAfee are to head for the Mississippi base from their homes, as also will Catcher Luke Sewell.

The second consignment of players, made up of infielders and outfielders, is not due to report until March 7.

Siegel, Toppino To Clash Tonight

New Orleans Flier Seeks to Avenge Defeat; N. Y. Boy Favorite.

New York, Feb. 20 (U.P.).—The two fastest humans on the indoor tracks will stage a return battle tomorrow night when Emmett Toppino, the New Orleans flier, matches strides with Ed Siegel, New York's blond whirlwind, in the 70-yard final of the New York Curb Exchange games at the 106th Armory.

Toppino, the diminutive, black-haired torpedo from Loyola University, will be out to avenge Saturday night's defeat by Siegel in the New York Athletic Club spring—a defeat that broke his two-year string of indoor victories.

Siegel outsprinted Toppino at Madison Square Garden Saturday night in the 60-yard event, winning in 6.3 seconds, or one second slower than the 6.2 world indoor record, which the Louisiana runner equalled six times in 1932.

Although Toppino will be running under full steam tomorrow night, track experts believe the 10 yards of the 70-yard distance will favor Siegel, who is a stronger finisher although usually not so fast in the take-off.

EARLE COMBS SIGNS.

Richmond, Ky., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Earle Combs, outfielder, said today he has signed his 1933 contract with the New York Americans and will report at St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5 for spring training. He declined to discuss the terms of his contract.

Fistic, Stage Notables at Funeral

Old and New Friends in Tribute to Memory of Ex-Champ.

Hundreds Brave Rain Outside Church to Pay Respects.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—While a cold rain beat down steadily upon more than 1,000 persons huddled in the streets nearby, the sporting and theatrical world that knew and felt a real affection for James J. Corbett paid farewell tribute to him today in little St. Malachy's Church, halfway between the new Madison Square Garden and the old Broadway.

Despite the weather, close to 700 men and women crowded the little "Actors' Church" on West Forty-ninth street to honor the memory of "Gentleman Jim," who died Saturday in his sixty-seventh year after a prolonged illness. The services were at 11 a. m. and lasted 45 minutes. Burial was early this afternoon in Cypress Hills Cemetery, not far from Corbett's home in Bayside, Long Island.

All Classes Represented at Services.

Familiar figures of the stage and screen, gray-haired veterans of the fight game, a handful of them survivors of Corbett's own days as heavyweight champion and conqueror of the mighty John L. Sullivan; younger men with the battered features of their fistic profession, promoters and champions, sports magnates and old friends, all mingled in the silent gathering that sat through the solemn high mass of requiem, celebrated by the youthful priest of Corbett's home church, Father John P. Hayes, of the Sacred Heart parish.

There were grizzled little men like Jack Skelly, the famous old lightweight who fought George Dixon in the same fistic carnival in New Orleans which was crowned by Corbett's 21-round knockout of Sullivan in 1892. Nearby was Kid Egan, a sparring mate of Corbett, as well as Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons, who took the title away from "Gentleman Jim" in 1897.

Jack McAuliffe, who retired undefeated as lightweight champion of the world in the old days, called earlier at the Corbett home to pay his last respects. Johnny Dundee and Benny Leonard, the latter often ranked with Corbett among the ring's foremost boxers, were there. Jack Sharkey, who attended the funeral of his protege, Ernie Schaaf, just three days ago, came from Boston for the services in company with his manager, Johnny Buckley.

Baseball paid its tribute through Charles A. Stoneham, president of the New York Giants. Corbett was a fine ball player in his early days and his brother, Joe, was a big league pitcher. Jack Curley, wrestling promoter, sat near William F. Carey and James J. Johnston, officials of Madison Square Garden.

From the stage to which Corbett contributed most of his talents for more than 35 years, there were George M. Cohan, Fred Stone and scores of Jim's old associates in the Lambs' Club. Famous figures of the screen, like William S. Hart and Edward G. Robinson, were among the earliest arrivals. Harry Fairbanks recalled the colorful days when he was on the stage, touring with Corbett as a member of the "Gotham Comedy Quartet," from 1893 to 1898.

Levy, Promoter, Now Blind, Pays Respects.

Mack Levy, old-time fight promoter, now sightless, was helped into the church a few minutes before the services began. No one recognized him at first.

A few of Corbett's oldest friends and associates accompanied the body from Bayside to the city and then to the cemetery.

For the first time since he died peacefully in her arms, Vera Taylor Corbett, the widow, collapsed as she took her last look at the body this morning. She rallied bravely, however, and was escorted to and from the services by John and Dennis Kelleher, of Boston, old friends who had stayed with Corbett throughout his last illness.

Hundreds braved the rain for nearly two hours outside St. Malachy's, where police allowed only intimate friends or those with credentials to enter the church before 11 a. m.

Two autos banked with flowers accompanied the funeral procession. Among the offerings which most affected Mrs. Corbett was a wreath to represent the big red-winged "O" of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, of which Corbett was a member in his early athletic days. Accompanying this was a message from the mayor of San Francisco to Mrs. Corbett, expressing sympathy "at the passing of your beloved and respected husband and San Francisco's loved son, Jim Corbett. Thousands of hearts are bowed with yours in grief."

Jeby-Dundee Match For Garden March 17

New York, Feb. 20 (U.P.).—Ben Jeby, who is recognized in New York State as world's middleweight champion, will defend his title on March 17, against Vince Dundee of Newark, N. J., in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Jimmy Johnston, Garden promoter, announced the match today. He also announced that Adolph Heuser, light heavyweight champion of Europe, would meet Harry Ebbets, of Brooklyn, in a return 10-round bout on March 24. Heuser won a close decision over Ebbets in their semifinal to the Primo Carnera-Ernie Schaaf bout.

Beats Wise Anne by 1½ Lengths; Gift of Roses Third.

Beau Jolie Shows a Fine Performance in Taking Sixth.

HIALEAH PARK, Fla., Feb. 20 (A.P.).—A half dozen fillies and mares occupied the center of interest here this afternoon, appearing in the Top Flight Purse, named after C. V. Whitney's renowned filly. Miss Tulsa, in the colors of former Jockey Jock Howard, kept her local record clear, the daughter of Tryster scoring by a length and a half for her second success in as many starts at the meeting. Wise Anne took the place by three parts of a length from Gift of Roses.

Miss Tulsa was meeting better company than in her previous start and her backers received $9.70 for $2. The filly covered the 7 furlongs in 1:24 1-5.

Charlie Corbett broke the winner on her toes and, after drawing into a safe lead, took a hold of the pacemaker as Wise Anna and Gift of Roses staged a duel for the place. Miss Tulsa saved ground turning for home and clung to her lead in courageous fashion without being in apparent danger. Gift of Roses saved the show from Espinetta by a short lead, the latter making up ground while slightly impeded on the inside.

Judge Primrose Scores in Opener.

Judge Primrose, which showed fine form here as a 2-year-old, just lasted to account for the purse in the opening event. Royal Past, neglected in the betting, lost the verdict by a head, with Clean Play third. Judge Primrose, well played at $6.30 for $2, stole a long lead, but tired in the final drive. Royal Past shook off Hey There and would have won in a few more strides.

J. E. Widener's silks were home first in the third event when Canon Law, ridden by Bellizzi, came from behind to score by two lengths. The Fair Play colt was well backed, returning $4.60. Capitalist saved the place by a half length from Iredell. Wayward Lad tired from setting the pace and left the issue up to the winner and Capitalist, with Canon Law appearing much the best. Iredell was always with the first flight.

Beau Jolie Shows Smart Performance.

Beau Jolie's winning effort in the mile and a furlong of the sixth event was by far the smartest of any plater yet shown at the meeting. The 5-year-old son of Bo McMillan ran the distance in 1:50 4-5, after setting a remarkably fast pace and won by a half a dozen lengths to return $5.10. Englewood beat Oaten by four spans for the place. Beau Jolie's time was a fifth of a second away from the track record held by Lightning Bolt, a Florida Derby winner. Apprentice F. Case sent the G. E. Phillips color bearer into a quick lead and merely sat still the entire distance.

Village Vamp, paying $6.90, won the finale by a head from Contribute, with Wonderful third.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: MIAMI, FEBRUARY 20.

I came within a few lengths of losing my friend, Mike, today. It was Mike who dug up Gracias as a good thing in the fourth race and, knowing that the 3-year-old had never been in the money, I put him third on the Bennings list. Bellizzi gave the colt a rousing ride and for a while it looked like Mike was going to be right. But Gracias was unequal to the task of carrying the added burden of Mike's 165 pounds and was third behind Black Sheep and Liqueur. Mike only had 10 smackers on Gracias' nose and he would have collected at better than 33 to 1. Mike would have been Cuba bound had he hit. BILL.

FIRSE RACE—Looks like a rosy setting for AEGIS. Must give away weight to most of the field but seems perfectly capable. SUN MANOR has been showing signs of improvement and may place ahead of SCOTLAND BEAUTY.

SECOND RACE—COLLATERAL has been doing some fine racing here and should have no trouble with a field of this sort. CABOUSE and IRISH IMAGE to take care of the place and show awards.

THIRD RACE—PAPER PROFIT did all asked the last time out and gets my call. WISE DAUGHTER has proven a promising filly and can't be placed lower than second. The show to HIGH GLEE.

FOURTH RACE—PERIODICAL won for me recently at a good price and should repeat tomorrow, although Hanford will have to ride hard to get home ahead of CRAPSHOOTER. SUN GROS will take care of the rest.

FIFTH RACE—PREWAR is being prepared for bigger and better things later in the year but may be given a more thorough test than usual tomorrow. If that is the case, I wouldn't be surprised to see Gilbert ride home the winner. POT AU BROOMS' last was a beaut. May finish ahead of STEALINGAWAY.

SIXTH RACE—FORT DEARBORN is the class of this race but his handlers keep us guessing when they insist on riding apprentices. MAJOR LANPHIER is improved and may take the place from MODERN TIMES.

SEVENTH RACE—I take great pleasure in announcing that LADY DEAN will do some receiving tomorrow afternoon. I expect her to collect a purse and a nice, fat mutuel for beating this field. LUCKY RACKET and PRIMEVAL for the rest.

G. W. Hopes in N. Y. Depend on Burgess

Forward Is Expected to Star Against City College Tomorrow.

Forest Burgess' return to form after a brief slump has buoyed up George Washington's hopes for victory over City College of New York in their game tomorrow night, the feature of an all-star court program to be staged at Madison Square Garden for the benefit of New York's poor. Pitted against Nat Holman's speedy outfit in the feature of seven games, the Colonials are particularly anxious to cash in on their first opportunity of establishing themselves as a ranking collegiate outfit.

Burgess and his keen scoring eye will be needed all the more if Capt. Arthur Zahn's broken nose fails to knit sufficiently for him to take his place in the line-up. Zahn was discharged from the hospital two days ago but it will be several weeks before the injured organ is normal.

Jack Espey, chief statistician for the team, has rounded up some interesting figures in support of his claim that Burgess is the most important cog in the Hatchetite machine. In three years the former Central High School flash has participated in 46 games, scoring 527 points, or an average of 11.46 a game. He averaged 12.31 points a game in 1931 and 11.07 points a game last season. His average to date this season is slightly lower, 10.93, but Burgess did not play in three games in which G. W. opposed Southern Conference teams.

Johnny Fenlon's brilliant work against St. John's last Saturday night may be the deciding factor in the battle between he and Bill Noonan for Zahn's place in the line-up. The stocky little forward handled himself in great style, scoring nine points and playing a fine floor game. The remainder of the line-up will be Burgess, Hertzler, Chambers and the consistent Jimmy Howell.

Coleman, McMillan Mat Match Added

Bout Supports Garibaldi, Judson Feature Thursday at Auditorium.

Joe Turner's weekly wrestling card, to be presented Thursday night at the Auditorium, was completed last night with the addition of two preliminary bouts. Abe Coleman, the little big man of the rassle trade, has been pitted against brawny Jim McMillan, while George (Sahara) Zaharias will try wrist locks with one Marshall Blackstock. Both scuffles will be limited to 30 minutes.

Gino Garibaldi and Frank Judson are cast in the feature match of the night. They have, in addition to the two bouts listed above, a supporting card of Joe Savoldi vs. Paul Jones and Bruno Gorasini vs. Fred Grobmier.

Grobmier dumped Judson in the feature of last week's card for one of the most astounding upsets wrestling has been forced to contend with in several years. McMillan was another who won last week, disposing of Ernie Dusek with a well-timed left hook.

Juan Humberto, right off the boat from the old country, or is it New Jersey, fell victim to Coleman when little Abe planted his foot on the Eyetalian's chin last week.

G. U. PREP WINNER.

3-ROUND WIN SWEET FOR CORBETT

Bitter Hate Marked Quick Knockout of Charley Mitchell.

(This is the second of a series of three stories on the great battles of Jim Corbett, as witnessed by Billy Roche, veteran referee and manager, who saw "Pompadour Jim" take the heavyweight title from John L. Sullivan, defend it against Charley Mitchell, lose it to Bob Fitzsimmons, and fail to regain it from Jim Jeffries.)

By BILLY ROCHE,
(As Told to Edward J. Neil.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—The less said about Jim Corbett's three-round knockout of Charley Mitchell, British champion who once knocked John L. Sullivan down and fought him 39 rounds to a draw in Chantilly, France, the better for all concerned.

At his best, Mitchell weighed no more than 160 pounds. He hated Corbett bitterly and "Pompadour Jim" felt just as keenly about the Englishman. There was so much bad blood between the pair that Mitchell spat in Corbett's face one night in Miner's Bowery Theater, when he dared Jim to fight it out on the barroom floor.

As a result, Corbett showed no mercy when they finally were matched and fought at the end of a three-day fight carnival in Jacksonville, Fla., January 25, 1894.

About 15 months after I saw Jim win the heavyweight championship from Sullivan in New Orleans. So vicious was their enmity that there were questionable tactics on both sides.

Corbett Dragged Off of Mitchell.

In the second round Corbett knocked Mitchell flat with a right to the temple, and Honest John Kelly, who was refereeing, had to keep Jim from tearing into the Englishman on the floor. Again in the third, after a left floored Mitchell, Corbett's seconds had to pull him off the British champion. He was loosed long enough to knock Mitchell down again, bringing a gush of blood from the nose and mouth. The Englishman rose once more and Corbett, beside himself with rage, floored him for the last time with a terrific right to the temple.

Corbett never came closer than he did that night to losing a fight and his championship, on a foul. I got out of town before every one connected with the thing was arrested.

When Corbett lost his title to Bob Fitzsimmons in fourteen rounds at Carson City, Nev., March 17, 1894, I was down close to the ringside. It was the most one-sided fight you ever saw until Fitzsimmons, in desperation, landed a left to the body and knocked Jim out with the first real blow he had landed all during the fight.

For five rounds Corbett battered Fitzsimmons unmercifully and Bob couldn't get in a punch. Corbett was as fast as a lightweight and he jabbed Fitz silly. The more Fitz tried to feint and hook the faster Corbett hit him. In the sixth Jim opened up, brought blood streaming from Fitz's nose with lefts, and knocked him down for nine with a right to the chin.

Fitz was so badly battered that it didn't look as though he could possibly get up, but he did, somehow. Corbett seemed to ease up on him, but he went on making a mess of Bob's face, blocking everything Fitz tried up to the fourteenth.

It was as peculiar an ending to a fight as anyone ever saw. Fitz was covered with blood, all in, and he was swinging so wildly that he hadn't a chance to hit Corbett. He let go a wild right and Jim stepped back, confident and as fresh as when he started. But he must have been a little careless.

Fitz pivoted and brought around his left, blindly, as he missed the right. Corbett was just stepping in and the punch sank into what the experts ever after called the solar plexus. Corbett was in agony as he sank to the floor. He crawled to the ropes, trying to get back the breath that had been knocked out of him. Everyone in the place was shouting foul and all the seconds climbed into the ring.

Fitz Given Title 20 Seconds Later.

In about 20 seconds Corbett had his breath back and was ranting around the ring, trying to get at Fitz. It wasn't until them, in the middle of a free-for-all, that George Siler, the referee, finally decided Fitz had won fairly, had taken Corbett's championship on a knockout.

No matter how much Corbett tried, Fitz never would fight him again.

"I'll shoot you, like a dog," he once told Corbett, "if you ever try to lay another finger on me."

Ray Ruddy, 15-1, Wins Feature at Havana

Havana, Feb. 20 (A.P.).—Ray Ruddy, which has the habit of winning at long odds, outstepped a large field of platers over 1 1-16 miles at Oriental Park today and paid 15 to 1. He returned $48.60 for $2 in the mutuels.

The 7-year-old son of Sweep On was never far off the pace, but he waited until the leader, Pantagruel, was well into the stretch before challenging and moved out in front. At the finish he was a length in front of Pantagruel with Evening Sky third in the field of ten. The time was 1:47 1-5, made under 110 pounds.

GALLAUDET IN ACTION TONIGHT

Opposes Md. Normal; Old Line in 2-Sport Card Tomorrow.

THE college indoor sports campaign nears its end this week, as three of the five schools in the vicinity—Maryland, American and Gallaudet—call it quits with the last of their regular schedules. Gallaudet, scheduled to play Maryland State Normal tonight at Towson, concludes its season Friday playing Baltimore U. at Eastern High School.

American U. is another to finish Friday, the game with Virginia Medical College at the Eagle Gym being its last. Georgetown comes a step nearer the end the same day when it engages Pitt's powerful Panthers at Tech High School in an Intercollegiate League contest, but Maryland crosses the line ahead of all the rest with a double-barrelled volley tomorrow night at Ritchie Coliseum.

The Old Liners play host to Johns Hopkins' Blue Jays on the court and St. John's, of Annapolis ringmen, in writing finis to a successful winter sports program. Maryland swings back into action Friday, but in the Southern Conference tournament at Raleigh, N. C., and not a regularly scheduled game.

Maryland Names Four Boxers.

Four Maryland boxers will be busy after the remainder of the team have hung up their gloves for the season. Harold Burns, 135 pounds; Bernie Keener, 145 pounds; Lyman McAboy, 155 pounds; and Al Farrell, heavyweight, have been nominated by Coach Harmony for participation in the Southern Conference boxing tournament which opens Friday at Virginia University.

Pitt is sending a team of young giants to Washington seeking a second victory over Georgetown this season. The Smoky City aggregation tops the Intercollegiate loop with four consecutive victories and no defeat and only a startling reversal of form will mar that record Friday. Georgetown dropped a 32-to-18 decision earlier in the season at Pittsburgh.

American U. looks capable of repulsing Virginia's Medicine men when the two tangle on the Eagles' court. Victory for the District quintet will climax another of several successful court campaigns under Coach Walter Young's direction.

Gallaudet has improved enough of late to risk an even money bet against Baltimore, which has not been doing so well of late.

Firemen Win to Top Government League

Winning over D. C. Fire Department by the narrow margin of 22-20, Government Printing Office annexed a temporary Government League lead last night that is expected to be eliminated when Bureau of Investigation plays Jerry Lambath's Federal Aces tonight on the Bolling Field floor. Fire and G. P. O. will also meet again, having been scheduled for eight.

Eastern Five Swamps G. W. Freshmen, 54-34

George Washington University Freshmen proved no match for the powerful Eastern High School combination yesterday and succumbed by a score of 54-34 in a game played on the Lincoln Parker's floor.

Tom Davis, lanky center, led the high school team's attack, flipping in six field goals and four fouls for 16 points. Waters, Dean and Nolan also were prominent in the attack. Walsh and Kane were outstanding for the Colonial Cubs.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

SHORT-WAVE circuits now available from distant points have supplied the missing links in a world-wide chain, capable of relaying representative programs and reports of important events to the United States from practically every civilized country in the world, explains Charles W. Horne, noted radio engineer.

"Facilities in Cairo, Java, Siam, Australia, New Zealand, Venezuela, Brazil, Chile, Mexico, Bermuda, Hawaii and Japan, added to those in Europe and the United States, now make it possible for the most widely separated sections of the globe to establish short-wave communication," Mr. Horne went on.

"While few of these stations are powerful enough to be heard half-way around the world, it is easy, now that there are sufficient links in the chain, for each station to make contact through relays with one of the high-grade circuits which encompass the earth.

"Broadcasts originating in New England, for instance, can not be transmitted direct to the United States, but would be picked up and relayed over the circuit by a station in Australia. Each powerful station thus becomes the center of its own small network in its own section of the world, gathering programs from the surrounding smaller stations for relay and distribution over Nation-wide American networks."

MARIO CHAMLEE, American-born tenor and former member of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will make his second appearance as guest soloist in the Five Star Theater during the program to be heard over WJSV at 10 o'clock tonight. He will be accompanied by Josef Bonime's symphony orchestra.

The program follows:

Overture to "Martha," orchestra.

Aria from "Manon" (Massenet) and "Amapola" (Lacalle), Mario Chamlee.

Excerpts from "Nutcracker Suite" (Tschaikowsky), orchestra.

"Serenade" (Toselli) and "M'Appari," from "Martha" (Flotow), Mario Chamlee.

"Hungarian March" (Berlioz), orchestra.

Baritone Tommy McLaughlin, poetic David Ross and Andre Kostelanetz's orchestra will board "The Broadway Bandwagon" for their program tonight, offering hits from several Broadway musical shows, including "Take a Chance," "Cat and the Fiddle," "Pardon My English" and "Gay Divorce."

Don Bestor and his orchestra will make their debut on the Lucky Strike Hour (WRC, 10 p. m.).

DURING the "cosmic ray" broadcast, heard locally over WJSV the other day from a 360-ton steel vault 40 feet below Fifth avenue, Don Ball, the announcer; Joe Donahue, of the press relations department, and several engineers were confined in the vault for an hour and a quarter by a 27-ton steel time-lock on the door.

"What do we do if that door doesn't open on time?" asked the broadcasting crew.

"Right behind you are five oxygen tanks," the attendant told them, "and a dozen boxes of oxygen powder. If the air gets bad just sprinkle some of the powder on the floor and the air will freshen at once. You boys can last at least a week."

However, the door opened on time.

Dramatizations of outstanding incidents in the lives of the great composers and the addition of soloists will be the highlight of the new series of presentations featuring Howard Barlow and the symphony orchestra to be heard five times weekly at 11 o'clock over WJSV. The series started last night.

The dramatizations offering a picture of the man behind his music will be heard each Tuesday. Barlow will act as commentator. A group of radio actors will give the audience glimpses into the personalities of the world's greatest composers and the stories behind their master works.

Nino Martini will continue to be heard in recitals of operatic arias and lighter concert compositions each Wednesday and Friday; and the Thursday evening programs will be devoted to lighter symphonic works.

Ralph Kirbery, the Dream Singer, is making a series of motion picture shorts based on his "Ship of Dreams" broadcast theme.

VINTON HAWORTH, the "Jack Arnold" of "Myrt and Marge," will be interviewed from Chicago by Steve Trumbull during the "Meet the Artist" broadcast over WJSV at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Haworth is a Washingtonian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Hayworth.

A review of the highlights in the past 28 episodes of "The Magic Voice" will be heard in the WJSV program tonight, in order to bring the sequence of events up to date for the benefit of new stations joining the network carrying the program for the first time tonight. This gives local listeners, who missed episodes of this feature, an opportunity to get the action straight.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, will be the Presidential inaugural committee speaker over WJSV at 6:30 o'clock. His topic will be "The Senate's Participation in the Roosevelt Inaugural."

A performance of the "Horn" Trio in E-flat by Johannes Brahms, under the direction of Felix Salmond, English cellist, will be heard over WJSV at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Joel McCrea, motion picture actor, will be interviewed during the "California Melodies" program (WJSV, 9:30 p. m.).

ONE of the busiest musicians in town these days is Barnee, director of Maxim Lowe's Dance Orchestra. He has three programs weekly over Station WRC, two weekly over WBAL and three more over the Southeastern network of the N. B. C. In addition he must arrange his nightly programs for the Shoreham diners. In his spare time he writes the special arrangements which make his programs network quality.

Bob White
The Old Philosopher
SAYS:

Question—I want to go into the movies. I am good looking and everybody tells me that I should go to Hollywood. What do you say?

Answer—My dear little lady: Your friends may be right about your looks, and I have no doubt you are good looking. You didn't send me a photograph, so I'll take your word for it . . . But remember movies want something more than good looks . . . they want brains and a personality, and if you have not these your chances for fame in the movie city are nil. . . .

The streets of the Western city are filled with girls with beautiful faces and Diana figures. Their stomachs are empty and they have to tell fibs to their landladies every so often . . . when the rent is due.

More hearts are broken on the streets of Hollywood per 1,000 people than in any other place in the world.

Now if you have dramatic ability or theatrical training your may stand a chance, particularly if you are good looking, for a good looking face is pleasant to look upon . . . even in the movies. But this alone, without the latent possibilities of acting will not bring you much hope in Hollywood.

If you are serious, try to make a hit here at home in some amateur affair . . . your friends will soon tell you if you are a flop. It will save you a lot of railway fare and perhaps a broken heart.

Keep your good looks. Hold on to the best things in life . . . a home and children about your knees.

Bob White, the old philosopher, will answer an outstanding question each week day on this page. He is heard twice daily over WMAL, at 6 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

House Passes Arlington Bridge Connection Bill

(Associated Press.)

Legislation directing the Secretary of War to transfer a 60-foot strip of land to Arlington County, Va., to provide a connection between the Lee boulevard and the Arlington Memorial Bridge, was passed yesterday by the House and sent to the Senate.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 19.

DEDUCTION FOR BAD DEBTS.

Bad debts constitute a considerable item in the returns of many taxpayers and may be treated in one of two ways—either by deduction from gross income in respect to debts ascertained to be worthless either in whole or in part or by a deduction of a reasonable reserve for bad debts. Taxpayers were given an option for 1921 to select either of the two methods. The method used in the return for 1921 must be used in returns for subsequent years unless permission is granted by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to change to the other method. Application to change must be made at least 30 days prior to the close of the taxable year for which the change is to be effective. However, a taxpayer filing a first return in 1932 may select either of the two methods, subject to the approval of the commissioner upon examination of the return. Permission to adopt the reserve method is limited to taxpayers having a large number of accounts where credit is extended over a considerable period of time. It is not granted for the purpose of handling one specific debt

What constitutes a "reasonable addition" to a reserve for bad debts must be determined in light of the facts, and will vary as between classes of business and with conditions of business prosperity. A taxpayer using the reserve method should show in his return the volume of charge sales (or other business transactions) for the year, and the percentage of the reserve to such an amount, the total amount of notes and accounts receivable at the beginning and end of the taxable year, and the total amount of the debts ascertained to be worthless and charged against the reserve during the taxable year.

A New Yorker at Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—There's a new exodus of expatriates across the Atlantic, but this one is coming westward. Greenwich Village is overflowing with the arty Bohemian set as it hasn't been in fifteen years. The truth is that Montparnasse and Montmartre are being evacuated by those rather affected, disillusioned young Americans who fled to Paris to escape what they thought was the "intellectual desert of the Babbitt country." Now, bankrupt and even more disillusioned, they are coming home.

For years they have been able to maintain a slim, hungry sort of existence around the Paris sidewalk cafes while they discussed the fourth dimension, Gertrude Stein, James Joyce, cubism and other such pseudo-revolutionary ideas of art and literature.

Now, the returning pilgrims report, Paris can no longer support them and they are coming home. The cafes around the village and Harlem are being frequented these days with care-worn and poverty stricken artistic failures who haven't stirred from the dome or select in years.

Without money, without fame, without achievement and without a future—they form a pitiful group. No longer do they denounce their native land, which they branded with an intellectual vacuity. Their mortifying little tilt with the windmills found its defeat in the depression. Their loud spoken avowals of a determination to starve for their art came to naught. A bowl of soup is the antidote.

Fad or Fortune.

The sudden influx of society debutantes on the Broadway stage isn't entirely the fad it is supposed to be. The truth is that many of the Park avenue fortunes have been considerably dented in the past few years, and these pretty social register butterflies are finding it actually necessary to get out and add to the family income.

Having been educated in finishing schools, most of them discover they are not equipped to earn a living. Serving as mannequins in dress shops or as minor actresses offers the easiest opportunities.

I also notice that the producers seem to be saving money by hiring these debs instead of professional actresses for walk-on parts.

In an interview, one debutante says: "It's costing us plenty to be here. We get $30 a week apiece. We spend twice, that for costumes."

Making the Grade.

Because they are debutantes is no reason they shouldn't be good actresses. The social register has contributed more than a few excellent performers, such as Jane Buchanan, Hope Williams and June Blossom.

But, if the debs came on in such swarms, I only wonder what the aristocratic register is going to do about its policy of dropping any of its members who goes on the stage.

Alumnae Club Presents Antisocial Child Talk

The College Alumnae Club presented last night at the Birney School Howard H. Long, assistant superintendent of schools, as its first speaker in a series of lectures to be given under this auspices in study of the anti-social child.

Type problems of child development, methods of attack upon these problems, results procured from special examinations, conduct of probes and investigations, and corrective measures were discussed. Other lectures were announced under the same auspices, the presentations being in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. Esther B. King.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

A FRESH water well that draws its water not from the earth, but from the air, is located in an arid section of southern France. The well operates by an ingenious application of the principle of condensation. It is a huge stone dome with walls 8 feet thick. The walls are pierced by a series of sloping channels, the ends of which are seen as rectangular holes in the drawing. The lower channels slope upward to the central chamber, while the upper series are sloped downward. During the day the moisture-laden warm air enters the lower holes and rises through the channels to the center of the dome. At night, cool air enters the upper holes and settles downward through the channels.

When the cool night air strikes the warm air in the central chamber it causes moisture in the latter to condense into water.

Among Amazon Indians, a food called "farinha" is their staff of life. It is made from the mandioca root which is, itself, poisonous. The root resembles our parsnip, and its poison is soluble in water. In preparing it for the table it is shredded, then washed and soaked several times. The natives think their god showed them how to change this poisonous root into edible food.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

DEFLATED GOLF.

("Many of the country's most fashionable and expensive golf clubs have gone into receivership during the past year."—News item).

* * * *

I.

"THE golf club's broke?" the golfer sighed
As he perused the news
Proclaiming one more club had died,
Bereft of fees and dues.
"Ah, well," he said, "it's only fair—
I thought it would be so—
The burden of my playing there
Broke me long years ago!"

II.

Receivership? Well, who'd have dreamed
It would have come to that Back in the days when fortune beamed
On golf clubs sleek and fat;
When clubs were like the vast domains
Of princely potentates
And flunkys manned the silver chains
That barred their golden gates?

III.

Gone is the pomp of yesterday,
The ballyhoo is sunk;
Gone are the costly trappings gay,
The ritual and bunk;
The membership committee now
Less haughty is and proud,
And to a man of normal brow
Admittance is allowed.

IV.

No longer need a fellow go
In hock to chase a ball
Into the rough where cockles grow—
No need of that at all;
He needs no banker's letter now
To get into the club;
A cordial welcome they'll bestow
On any decent dub.

V.

No costly block of stock must he
Subscribe to in advance
Before he stands upon a tee
In spotless linen pants;
No talk is there of bonds to buy
Before directors will Concede that he's a proper guy
To swat the little pill.

VI.

The clubhouse luncheon's had a drop,
And now a member can Afford to have a mutton chop
With no time payment plan;
Now even waiters condescend
To take an order when
The member hasn't much to spend
And asks for change from "ten."

VII.

The Sunday greens' fee for a guest
No longer is a sum
That makes a member fearful lest
Some Sunday guest will come;
The "pro" now speaks to one and all
And even gives some time
To men who play a repaint ball
And haven't got a dime.

VIII.

No emphasis today is placed
Upon the swimming pool,
The rugs with which the halls are graced
Or marble terrace cool;
The costly and exotic shrubs
Essential seem no more
In helping to show golfing dubs
A way to cut their score.

IX.

Gone are those de luxe golf club scenes
By which the rich were bored;
The boys who once drove limousines
Now find show untoward;
Why, yesterday, I saw unfold
The strangest proof by far—
I found my golf club even sold
A GOOD FIVE-CENT CIGAR.

THE HOME-MADE BRAND.

"Talk of Giving Roosevelt Powers of Dictator."—Headline. Benito Roosevelt and Adolf Garner, as it were.

Most people will have no objection to Mr. Roosevelt's becoming a dictator if he promises not to wear a blackshirt and make traffic cop motions from White House balconies.

AN OPTIMISTIC WISH.

Mrs. Roosevelt's inaugural gown will be of "Eleanor blue." We trust Mr. Roosevelt's inaugural suit will not be what is known as a "Lotta red."

K. K. K. informs this department that things are so bad that members of fashionable winter resort polo teams now stop to look for lost balls.

Rum Loot

Cargo of Assorted Liquor of Roumanian Legation Stolen in Transit.

Picture, if you can, the third (or fourth) secretary of the Roumanian Legation knocking at the rear door of another diplomatic menage and saying: "Please, sir, the minister has some unexpected company and wonders if he could borrow a half pint of whisky, a liter of burgundy and a split of champagne?"

Thirteen cases of liquors were received yesterday by the Roumanians from abroad. This consignment was needed at the legation, for its supply was ebbing. Imagine the disappointment of Minister Charles Davila to learn that the bottles contained water—that they had all been opened in transit, their contents consumed, and then carefully resealed.

DEFENSE IN ECKLUND CASE FAILS IN FIGHT TO BAR CONFESSIONS

Counsel Opens Arguments to Jury Today; Suicide Tried by Workman.

The net of evidence spun about the four defendants in the Ecklund murder case by Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins will be attacked today when defense counsel deliver opening arguments to the jury.

For four hours yesterday the seven attorneys for the defendants sought futilely to discredit the testimony of Detective Sergt. John C. Dalglish that the alleged confessions of Albert Ernest Cash, Everett L. Blackwell, Fewel Workman and Claude Myers were voluntarily given.

The proceedings yesterday were occupied principally by technical objections to the validity and admissibility of the confessions, the only high spot in the proceedings coming from District Jail, where Workman was reported to have made an attempt to commit suicide.

Peak Depreciates Report.

However, Col. William L. Peak, head of the jail, expressed the belief that it was a "very feeble attempt," and discounted the thought that Workman really intended to kill himself. "I have seen such attempts before," he said, "and they are usually done for some ulterior motive, such as possible effect on the jury or to bolster defense contentions of weak-mindedness."

Workman told prisoners he had been stricken with remorse when a religious hymn was sung at church services on Sunday and he then went to his cell and tried to hang himself. He said the hymn brought back memories of his mother and he became despondent. He was found with a sheet knotted about his neck. Apparently, Col. Peak said, he suffered no ill effects.

The early part of the proceedings yesterday was taken up by the introduction of the alleged confession of each defendant. Defense counsel put up a vigorous fight against the introduction of this evidence, but Mr. Collins succeeded in having them read to the jury.

Will Plead Accident.

The confessions tell the story of the hatching of the plot to rob Einer H. Ecklund near the new House Office Building on January 20. They relate how Myers and Workman, colored, did the actual shooting; how Blackwell signaled to the two colored defendants and to Cash, who was waiting nearby in a taxicab, and how they all escaped, after the killing of Ecklund.

The defense for Workman and Myers likely will be that the killing was accidental; this has been indicated by their attorneys, Louis Whitestone, Al. Philip Kane and Maurice McInerney. The defense for Blackwell, likely will be that he abandoned his purpose to go through with the holdup, his attorneys, F. Joseph Donohue and James Archer have intimated. James A. O'Shea and E. Goldstein, counsel for Cash, have not indicated what his defense will be. All have alleged that the confessions were obtained by undue influence.

The case probably will go to the jury Thursday or Friday. It is expected that each of the defendants will take the stand in his own defense.

Veteran's Widow Passes 100th Year

Mrs. Catherine Ann Carter Lives With Niece in Kennedy Street.

Outliving her son, two daughters and five younger brothers and sisters, Mrs. Catherine Ann Carter celebrated her one hundredth birthday anniversary yesterday with her grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Carter has been an active member of the Ryland Methodist Church since 1855, and it has been only in the last few months that failing strength has kept her from weekly attendance.

Masonic leaders from all parts of the United States began a week of activities in Washington yesterday, centering around the annual celebration of the anniversary of George Washington's birth.

The all day conference of grand masters was held yesterday at the Willard, with 43 jurisdictions out of 49 represented. Registration was made by 136 delegates, including 33 grand masters, the remainder being secretaries and deputy grand masters.

Harry G Kimball grand master in the District, made the address of welcome, and the Rev. John L. Palmer, chaplain of the local Grand Lodge, gave the invocation. J. Claude Keiper, grand secretary of the local lodge, took an active part in the program. A dinner of the grand masters was held last night, and the conference of grand secretaries also was held.

The annual meeting of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Association will open today at the Masonic Memorial Building in Alexandria and continue through tomorrow morning. The speakers will include Louis Block, past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Iowa.

Following the close of the association meeting tomorrow, the fourteenth annual meeting of the Masonic Service Association will get under way at the Raleigh.

Credit Conference Studies Collections

Barter and Scrip Topics at Regional Parley at Mayflower.

Seven States and the District of Columbia were represented at the Columbia Regional Conference of Credit Bureau Executives which opened in the Hotel Mayflower yesterday.

Problems of credit collections in times of lax business were discussed. The keynote address was made by David J. Woodlock, of St. Louis, Mo., manager-treasurer of the National Retail Credit Association. James D. Hays, of Harrisburg, Pa., is presiding. John W. Tallentire, credit manager of the Hecht Co., and president of the Associated Retail Credit Men of Washington, made the address of welcome.

Barter and scrip may be looked upon as a metter of absolute necessity in effecting relief in hard-pressed communities, Harry F. Tyler, of the Market Service Division of the Department of Commerce, said.

Autopsy Ordered on Man Who Fell Dead at Work

Dr. A. Magruder MacDonald, acting coroner, this morning will perform an autopsy on the body of John Blackwell, 38-year-old painter, of 419 Third street northwest, who fell dead while working at 3101 Rhode Island avenue northeast yesterday morning.

The painter was stricken while doing a paint job on the interior of a filling station. He was rushed to Sibley Hospital in the Rescue Squad ambulance and was pronounced dead upon arrival. Physicians at the hospital said they noticed no suspicious circumstances after an examination of the body.

CONGRESS' REPEAL VOTE ATTACKED AT BIBLE CONFERENCE

Is Merely Another Mistake, Declares Dr. Abernethy; Sessions Near Close.

Directing a calm criticism at the vote of Congress to submit to repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the States, the Rev. William S. Abernethy, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, viewed the action as merely another mistake—one of a chain of errors the world will need to undergo before it reaches the realization of what is right—in a talk at last night's session of the Bible conference at the First Congregational Church.

Quoting the observation of Herbert Spencer that "people will never go right until they have tried every possible way of going wrong," Dr. Abernethy declared that this will probably be true of the Nation's attitude toward the prohibition law.

"Maybe we'll have to go through it all over again," he said. "Maybe we'll have to prove all over again that automobiles and booze don't go together, and that efficiency and booze don't go together. And maybe we won't."

Need of God Cited.

Quoting again, this time from St. Augustine, Dr. Abernethy intoned: "The heart of man is eternally restless, until he finds rest in God . . . The people are restless today, that is the trouble: We need Him."

To Jeremiah, Dr. Abernethy also called attention. Jeremiah's attitude toward the people of his day would be timely in this period, he said.

Leaders of the Columbia Bible Training School, under whose auspices the conference is being held, saw the hope for immediate salvation of the country in bringing the Bible back to youth. A sympathetic understanding of youth was recommended.

Others on Program.

Speakers last night, in addition to Dr. Abernethy, included Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, pastor of the First Congregational Church, who spoke on "The Bible Our Mirror;" Dr. John C. Copenhaver, who spoke on "The Need of Knowing Christ," and Dr. Clifford H. Jope, who discussed "The Christian, the Interpreter of Christ." Objects of the Columbia Bible Training School were explained by Benjamin J. Brooks. Conference music, under the direction of Thomas Moss, consisted of a devotional from Dr. Samuel Judson Porter, a chorus by the Calvary Baptist Church choir and a solo from Mrs. Erna Embrey.

The concluding session of the conference tonight will include addresses by Dr. Harvey Baker Smith, Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, Dr. Henry W. Snyder and Dr. H. H. Harmon.

Elwood Martack, Grand Vice Chancellor Dr. Ben Sandy, Grand Master of the Exchequer John S. Gault and Grand Master at Arms Edward M. Akers, all of Maryland, and Past Grand Chancellor W. P. Hayes, of Tennessee, and District Department Grand Chancellor Emmett C. Scott, of Virginia.

The grand lodge degree was conferred upon eleven past chancellor commanders, including B. H. Cooke and Harry Darnell, both of Alexandria, Va. The meeting will continue tonight, when the annual election will take place.

Two Are Released In Letter Incident

Informed No Crime Had Been Committed by Pair, Police Free Them.

Advised by acting United States Attorney John W. Fihelly that no crime had been committed by Harry T. Thompson, 27, and William R. Birmingham in the writing of a letter relating to the unsuccessful attempt to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt, Metropolitan Police yesterday released the two who had been in custody since Saturday.

A letter written, police said, by Thompson was found near a mail box. Birmingham is said to have been the one was to have mailed it, but since the letter never reached the mail box no postal rules had been broken.

Mr. Fihelly expressed the opinion that the letter was written in a facetious vein and was not meant to be taken seriously.

West End Group Says D. C. Taxes Unbearable

The West End Citizens Association, meeting last night at the Grant School, upheld the action of the Federation in their stand against the District government's borrowing a relief fund of $2,500,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The heavy burden of taxes, it was pointed out in a formal resolution, is now more than the District residents can bear. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the District Commissioners.

Illness Blocks G. A. R. Participation in Parade

Efforts of the inaugural parade committee to find a member of the G. A. R. able and willing to participate in the Roosevelt parade on inauguration day have met with so many setbacks that Col. E. M. Watson, chairman of the parade committee, has issued a public appeal for assistance in his search.

Dr. George C. Havenner, who has been actively directing the composition of the parade, has made repeated efforts to find some Union veteran to ride with the marchers. Two auxiliaries of the G. A. R. have applied for positions and have been accepted, but the search for a soldier of the Civil War has been fruitless so far. Several of the aged warriors have been found who agreed tentatively to ride in the parade, but in every instance illness has forced them to withdraw.

The parade committee has had no such difficulty with Confederate veterans. Several cars will be filled with former wearers of the gray, according to the arrangements which have been completed.

HOME REPAIR DRIVE TO START THURSDAY

Trade Board Meeting to Work Out Details of Loans to Property Owners.

The Renovize Washington campaign, through which home owners will be lent $500,000 by local banks for improvement of their property, will get definitely under way Thursday when the full committee meets at Board of Trade headquarters.

Details of the campaign will be worked out at this time. Simultaneously, the campaign committee has issued a request for an old one-story frame house, the more dilapidated the better, to be placed on a plot of ground in front of the new Department of Commerce Building.

This building will be the objective of competitive designs to be made by the local chapter of the American Institute of Architects. The best design will be put into actual use for improvement of the house.

Indorsement of the campaign was given yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Chapin and the District commissioners. The movement in Washington has prompted Philadelphia to call a meeting of bankers with a view to working out a similar plan, it was announced.

Through extending loans up to $500 to home owners who are depositors in a bank, the Board of Trade hopes to stimulate employment and business activity in Washington. The District of Columbia Bankers Association has agreed to extend the fullest cooperation in the movement.

Further Pay Cuts Scored by Citizens

Lincoln Park Group Also Urges More Funds for Playgrounds.

Lincoln Park citizens last night opposed any further reduction in the salaries of District employes, and asked for the reinstatement of necessary local appropriations which were stricken out in Congress for economy purposes.

The association also opposed the action of Congress terminating the use of two incinerators in Southeast Washington, after $100,000 had been spent in their construction. The association demanded that the $85,000 fund for the upkeep of these incinerators be reinstated at once in the protection of health and sanitation.

The association also adopted resolutions petitioning Congress for the $7,000 supplementary appropriation for the Northeast Playground, and demanding that buildings more than three stories in height should be equipped with fire prevention apparatus during their construction.

Inquest Set Today In Operation Death

Woman Held After Wife of Army Officer Dies at Walter Reed.

Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald, will conduct an inquest at noon today into the death of Mrs. Leda Hughes, 32, of 629½ Maryland avenue southwest, wife of Sergt. Carl Hughes, U. S. A., who died late Sunday at Walter Reed Hospital reputedly from the effects of an illegal operation performed early this month.

The woman was taken to the Army Hospital last Wednesday. She was pronounced dead by Col. Luther R. Poust, staff surgeon of the post, who notified the coroner.

Investigations by Detective Sergt. Jack Dalglish, of the homicide squad, led to the arrest, shortly afterward, of Evelyn Dixon, colored, 33, of 2010 Florida avenue northwest. She is being held for the coroner's jury today.

TRAFFIC TOLL

TO DATE.

Remember there are other automobiles on the streets whose drivers deserve a little consideration. Don't get the idea that you are all-important and that the road should be cleared so that you can pass blithely along. Streets are full of bumps just like life and because there are others to be considered you have to pass over some of these bumps to reach your destination.

The accident figures are:

Deaths	17	10
Injuries	501	477

10,000 SEATS ADDED TO MARCH 4 STANDS GUARDED BY POLICE

Brown and Schrom Declare Precautions Not Caused by Labor Trouble.

With the announcement that 10,000 additional uncovered grandstand seats will be erected for the inauguration of President-elect Roosevelt, orders were issued last night detailing police and fire reserves to guard the stands already completed.

The order, sent out by Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, was issued as "a precautionary measure." Although rumors first connected the police and firemen assignments with possible attempts at sabotage growing from recent difficulties between carpenters and contractors on the new stands, Maj. Brown and Acting Fire Chief C. E. Schrom denied last night that the guard was assigned for that reason.

Souvenir Hunters Feared.

As the stands are highly inflammable, Chief Schrom said, firemen have been detailed so as to handle any emergency which might arise. The police guard was assigned to prevent depredations by souvenir hunters, Maj. Brown declared.

The proposed new stands will be located on Pennsylvania avenue, in front of the Postoffice Building, the site of the Archives Building, between Seventh and Ninth streets, and at the intersection of Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues.

Great Fireworks Display.

Provision for additional 82 seats was made necessary by the tremendous demand for accommodations at this low price. Arrangements have also been made for keeping the ticket office at 1419 F street northwest open until 9 o'clock every night from now until inauguration day, and next Sunday from 9:30 a. m. until 9 p. m. On inauguration day ticket offices will be located by each of the grandstands.

A fireworks display equalling, if not surpassing any heretofore held in Washington, was promised by Edgar Morris, chairman of the subcommittee on fireworks, following the awarding of the contract for this phase of the festivities. The pyrotechnic display will begin promptly at 8 o'clock on the Monument Grounds and is expected to last several hours.

30-Inch Shells to Roar.

Many of the very latest developments in this form of entertainment have been provided, including 30-inch shells, each containing 75 breaks, a larger size than has ever been used anywhere before. The set pieces will include portraits of President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner, and as a finale a 120-foot fiery sign, bearing the legend, "Happy days are here again." More than a dozen novelty displays will be included. Members of the committee who have worked out this program with Mr. Morris are: Edwin M. Graham, George W. Bean, E. J. Boothby, L. P. Steuart and C. C. Patterson.

The general entertainment committee also announced that it had installed a special representative in the inaugural ticket office for the sale of tickets for the Indian ball game at Central High School stadium on the afternoon of March 3. Through the cooperation of Mrs. Merritt O. Chance, chairman of the inaugural committee of the Women's City Club, a luncheon will be given at the club on Jackson place to the wives of governors attending the inauguration on March 4. A tea will be given on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, is arranging open house at federation headquarters for the entertainment of inaugural visitors.

Authorities at the Congressional Library announced yesterday that the library would be open to readers from 4:30 to 10 on March 4, but that the building would be open to sightseers from 9 in the morning until 10 at night.

Avenue Car Platforms Removed for Inaugural

In anticipation of inaugural ceremonies, the Public Utilities Commission yesterday ordered the removal of all street car-loading platforms along Pennsylvania avenue between the Capitol and the White House and rerouted all buses which cross or run on the Avenue.

As in former years the street railways will run shuttled service along other streets as a substitute for the Pennsylvania avenue service. Details have not yet been announced.

WALTER REED LEAP FATAL TO OFFICER

Lieut. Col. George R. Harrison Jumps From Window in Orderly's Absence.

A certificate of death by suicide was issued by Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald in the death of Lieut. Col. George R. Harrison, 51, who jumped from a third-story window at Walter Reed Hospital yesterday.

Col. Harrison, who had entered the hospital from Fort McKinley, Me., on February 6, had been taken from the psychopathic ward to the dental clinic by an orderly who left the patient alone in the waiting room of the clinic.

Returning a moment later, the orderly said, he saw the officer running toward a window at the end of the hall from which he jumped to his death before the orderly could reach him. He was taken to the operating room where he died a few minutes later of a crushed chest and head injuries.

Born in Columbia City, Ind., the son of Joseph R. Harrison, Col. Harrison was graduated from West Point in the class of 1907 and commissioned in the Infantry. During the World War he was transferred to the Air Service, and commanded aeronautic schools at Mount Clemens, Mich.; Ohio State University, and Cornell University.

In 1920 he returned to the Infantry and reached the grade of lieutenant colonel in 1931. He was graduated from the Infantry School in 1926, and from the Command and General Staff School in 1929.

Col. Harrison is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lillian Harrison, daughter of Brig. Gen. Samuel W. Miller, of 1661 Crescent place northwest; his father, Joseph R. Harrison, Columbia City, Ind., and one son and two daughters.

Rum Verdict Given Man Who Hailed Police Car

It was a mistake for Calvin Stonnel to hail a police car and ask to be taken home, it developed in Police Court yesterday when Judge Gus A. Schuldt gave him a suspended sentence of a $25 fine or 25 days in jail on a charge of intoxication.

The man was said by police to have hailed a police car, which obligingly stopped. When the surprised policemen were asked to take Stonnel home, they took him instead to the station.

Brookland Group Hears Crosby Commend Police

Addressing members of the Brookland Citizens Association, meeting at the Brookland Methodist Church last night, Police Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby praised the operations of the Washington force. He said he opposed the use of any public space for parking purposes and advocated restrictions against the overnight parking of automobiles on the streets.

The association appointed a committee to list rooms available to inauguration tourists and adopted a resolution favoring appropriations for a fire house at Fourteenth and Rhode Island avenue northeast.

HOUSE GROUP VOTE ON BEER IN DISTRICT IS DUE TOMORROW

Tydings Changes His Bill to Provide Content of 3.05 Per Cent.

While plans were laid in the House yesterday for a House District Committee vote tomorrow on pending local beer legislation, Senator Millard E. Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, introduced in the Senate a substitute for his earlier District beer measure.

Following on the heels of yesterday's House repeal vote, Senator Tydings put in a measure fixing the alcoholic limit to conform with the 3.05 beer content prescribed in the pending national beer bill, which may get action in the Senate this week.

Meanwhile Chairman Vincent L. Palmisano, of the House District judiciary subcommittee planned to call a meeting of that group today to consider the Black measure, providing 3.2 per cent beer for the District. The subcommittee may decide to substitute the 3.05 percentage proposed in the Tydings measure.

Representative Mary T. Norton (Democratic), New Jersey, chairman of the House District Committee, said she would exert every effort to get a favorable vote by the full committee at tomorrow's meeting. She thinks a local measure ought to be on the House calendar, in case national legislation is enacted.

Senate to Start Hearings On City Fund Tomorrow

Senate hearings on the closely trimmed District appropriations bill passed by the House Saturday will open before the Senate District Appropriations subcommittee tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, Chairman Hiram Bingham announced yesterday.

The Commissioners, Maj. Daniel Donovan, District auditor, and other local officials will be called on to testify. Hearings must be completed, action taken by the Senate and differences between the two houses ironed out in conferences in the ten remaining legislative days of the present session.

P. U. C. Reduces Space Of Loading Safety Zone

To provide better protection for persons standing within safety zones, the Public Utilities Commission yesterday made public an amendment to its recent order affecting safety zones and loading platforms. The amendment provides that the inner line of safety zones shall be extended 10 inches farther away from the street railway rails or a total of 28 instead of 18 inches.

This will reduce the width of safety zones from 56 to 46 inches, but the commission believes that it will prevent pedestrians from standing too close to approaching cars.

Rumble-Seat Robber Gets Girl's Raincoat

Another larceny was chalked up last night against the rumble-seat robber who operates in the vicinity of Eighteenth and M streets northwest, when Miss Jane Best, of 1620 Fuller street northwest, reported the loss of a raincoat.

Miss Best said she heard a noise while driving on Eighteenth street and looked around in time to see the raincoat go out the back window. A young colored man, who had mysteriously sneaked a ride on the back of the car, was seen to jump and run. On two other occasions women have lost property and money while driving in this section, supposedly to the same man, who robs the victim while riding on the back of the car.
